Hoover to Workmen.
The Common Billion.
Be Polite to Ouafi.
Two Short Speeches.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

HERBERT HOOVER, beginning his campaign in the East, outlining his views on labor, tells the workers that their continued prosperity depends on this election.

What labor asks, Mr. Hoover plans to give, and he has a definite plan.

Today's newspapers will tell the country of Gov. Smith's definite plans for farmers, which he is unfolding as this is written.

FOR labor, Herbert Hoover proposes restricted immigration, expansion of foreign trade, increased national efficiency, organization of credit, free collective bargaining between capital and labor, restricted use of injunctions in labor disputes, public works to assure employment in times of idleness, scientific study of idleness problem.

HERBERT HOOVER reminded his hearers that when Republicans came back to power in 1921, there were from "5,000,000 to 6,000,000 unemployed in our streets, at the same time wages and salaries were falling."

He also mentioned the fact that within a year after the Republicans got in, 5,000,000 workers that had been idle were put to work.

Gov. Smith, of course, will reply to all this as soon as he reads it.

THE word "billion," once whispered low, in awe, becomes part of advertising. The Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, advertises in big letters, "What Chicago's Billion-Dollar Bank Will Mean to Its Customers."

One billion dollars is the amount that Bismarck made the French pay after the War of 1870, considering five thousand million francs as much as the French could pay.

France offered national securities to the French people, that German invaders might leave French soil, and Frenchmen subscribed the five billion francs, fourteen times over.

WE are getting used to the billion; with billion-dollar banks, billion-dollar corporations, two or three of them at least, and a number of billionaires, although they modestly don't brag about it.

When will the TRILLION and the trillionaire appear?

MR. EL OUAFI, French Arab, who beat all runners of the world in the Olympic Marathon, is here.

Nature, producing him, seems to have had a greyhound in mind. His legs are almost as thin as a greyhound's, and, quite tall, he weighs only 124 pounds.

EL OUAFI is a citizen of the French republic, and, although many sporting Americans that see him run will not know it, his ancestors of ancient Arabia are ancestors whom our civilization and its science owe a great deal.

Those old Arabs were learned in science, mathematics and many lines when our ancestors in England were hiding in swamps and our ancestors in Ireland were running over hills and bog not much dressed, their great king putting aside his cloak of raw bull hide in the presence of a French visitor, revealing a king with nothing on him.

Many words that we use every day, sofa, alcohol, many terms in chemistry, come from the Arabic.

"FRIENDS of the radio, this is Thomas A. Edison speaking."

Thus the great American inventor began a brief talk opening New York's radio exposition.

At the same opening Henry Ford, speaking for the first time on the radio, said of Edison: "He has done more through his inventions for humanity than any other human being. He is recognized as the father and founder of the present industrial age. All that we have done has been made possible by his inventions for the use of power."

The world will wait a long time before hearing two shorter or more interesting radio talks.

RAYMOND S. BLUNT, of Chicago, is called the human time clock. He remembers where he was, what happened every hour, every minute of the last 10 years.

In four months of this year, for instance, he spent 968 hours in sleep, 25 hours in church, 363 hours at meals, 48 hours on pleasure, etc.

That's interesting, but keeping track of time, hours and minutes, is not so important as putting something into the hours and minutes.

For instance, the minute in which Thomas A. Edison decided that two messages, as well as one, might be sent over the same wire at the same time, was more important to the world than all the well regulated hours in the lives of ten thousand other men.

SERIOUS rebellion in Barcelona. Catalonia has been to Spain what Ireland once was to England, a thorn in the side. Yesterday there was a rumor that De Riviera, Spanish premier, had been shot.

CANADA thinks that a young man committing a crime should remember it. In Quebec, Robert Chandonet, bank teller, pleading guilty to theft with violence, will go to the penitentiary for ten years.

Eight days after he enters prison he will receive five blows from the cat-o'-nine-tails, and eight days before he comes out five more.

Our young criminals will call that taking crime TOO seriously.

Joe's Drink Just Case Of Mistaken Identity

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.

TESTIFYING yesterday in the Senate probe of the Vare-Wilson election contest, Joseph G. Armstrong, Allegheny county commissioner, said that the only complaint as to the 1926 primary elections in Pittsburgh had originated in Vare headquarters. E. E. Beidleman, a candidate for Governor allied with Vare, had personally made an investigation of what the Allegheny canvassing board was doing, the witness asserted, and "found that everything was all right and went away a happy man."

J. G. ARMSTRONG.

"How do you know he was a happy man?" demanded Roland B. Mahany, of the Wilson counsel.

"Well, he smiled and took a drink with me and went away," the Commissioner retorted.

—And in Harrisburg last night Beidleman said, "I never took a drink in my life."

THRONGS CROWD COOK SCHOOL OPENING

So great was the interest in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Free Cooking School that scores of women stood in the rain this morning waiting for the doors of Memorial Hall to open. As a result the doors were thrown open at noon, an hour before the scheduled time.

The big hall rapidly filled with women who inspected prizes in the lobby with interest, prior to the opening of the first day's sessions at 2 p. m. The reputation of Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree, household expert, who was to address the meeting, had attracted hundreds long before the time to begin. Displays by co-operating merchants were viewed with admiration by the throng.

The cooking school is being conducted under the sponsorship of the Congress of Women's Clubs with the co-operation of Pittsburgh merchants.

Sessions will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock and Friday at 2 and 8 p. m.

Twenty-five market baskets filled with nationally advertised food products are to be distributed daily. Each basket will contain two tickets of admission to the Stanley Theater, good for the week of September 24 to 29. The screen attraction will be "The Whip," a sound picture featuring Dorothy Mackaill. On the stage Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, stars of "No, No, Nannette" will be featured.

Five major premiums will be awarded. They are a General Electric refrigerator, a Tappan gas range, Spear's Hoosier kitchen cabinet, a set of Wearever kitchen utensils, and a Lady Dover iron and Dover percolator.

SHENANGO WOMEN FORM SMITH CAMPAIGN CLUB

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 19.—Officers of the Al Smith-for-President Club organized by Shenango Valley women are: Dr. Edith MacBride, Sharon, president; Mrs. Ben Marks, Farrell, vice president; Miss Jane Kennedy, Sharon, secretary, and Miss Irene Bailey, Sharpsville, treasurer.

BECKETT APPOINTED WHEELING MANAGER

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 19.—Thomas Y. Beckett was appointed city manager of Wheeling by council last night, and Albert M. Kress, former newspaperman, assistant manager. Beckett succeeds Charles O. Epplin who died several weeks ago in Canada.

Hurls Girl Out of Auto

Harriet Campbell, 15, of 59 Twelfth street, is in a serious condition in West Penn Hospital from injuries received, it is alleged, when she was thrown from an automobile in Liberty avenue, near the Pennsylvania Station, early today.

Robert Kelly, 23, 2172 Fifth avenue, was ordered held pending the outcome of the girl's injuries by Magistrate A. D. Brandon today in Morals Court. Four serious charges were lodged against Kelly.

SET 400 AS FLORIDA STORM TOLL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Deaths in the Palm Beach area as a result of the tropical hurricane were estimated at 400 in a message sent to the Red Cross early today by Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach Chapter, and James H. Gilman, in charge of disaster relief. Fifteen thousand were reported homeless; 8,000 were without change of clothing; 9,000 were being fed at organized relief camps, and the property damage was placed at $30,000,000.

Food and water conditions were said to be satisfactory, "so far." Sanitary conditions were good along the coast, but were said to be becoming very serious in the western half of Palm Beach county.

CONDITIONS SUMMARIZED

The following summary of conditions in 22 Florida counties was telegraphed to the American Red Cross today by A. L. Schafer, disaster relief director in Florida:

"Hardee county, town of Wachula, reports no great damage. Four hundred people cared for in courthouse. Few injured.

"Okeechobee reports 27 killed and many injured, great property damage and in need of emergency assistance.

"Glades county, Moorehaven, reports slight damage.

PALM BEACH WORST

"Palm Beach, all reports indicate every building damaged, with 40 per cent destroyed. Food being supplied from Miami. Medical situation satisfactory, with doctors and nurses from Miami and Daytona Beach. Loss heavy in rural districts, including Bear Beach, Ritta, Miami Locks. District in need of food and shelter, some loss of life.

"Martin county, heavy property damage, one dead, many injured.

"Broward, northern part of county, suffered greater damage than in 1926. Heaviest at Deerfield and Pompano, some destruction at Fort Lauderdale.

"Hendry county, Clewiston, slight damage.

"Tampa, slight damage.

"Pasco, Dade City, reports slight damage.

"Citrus, no great damage to trees and fruit crops.

"Marion, Ocala, slight damage.

"Levy, Cedar Keys, no loss of life; property damage slight.

"Suwanee, reports normal conditions.

"Franklin, Apalachicola, no damage.

"Columbia, Lake City, property damage slight.

"Bay, Panama City, not touched by storm.

"Walton, De Funiak Springs, reports no damage, working on relief fund.

"Leon, Tallahassee, reports no damage.

"Dade, Miami, slight damage.

"Hernando, Brooksville, no casualties; some damage to citrus crop."

PLANE OUT 8 MILES, MOTOR BALKS

By JAMES J. DELANEY,
International News Service.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Sept. 19.—Backfire of the motor in the sesqui-plane Roma, or a stone from the beach picked up by the landing carriage wheels, badly bent the air intake valve on the carburetor today and balked the start of a nonstop run to Rome and nearly brought possible disaster to the expedition.

Eight miles out, Flight Commander Cesare Sabelli and Pilot Roger Q. Williams discovered that the motor was not functioning properly. This was approximately five minutes after the Roma had left the beach here amid great cheers by the crowd of spectators on the beach.

SHIP LOSES HEIGHTH

The Roma began to burn raw gasoline and her motor was beginning to carbonize. Black smoke belched from the airship and she began to lose altitude.

Pilot Williams feared that he would have to make a forced landing. The Roma circled dangerously close to two offshore islands, still losing altitude.

In a final, desperate attempt, Williams brought the ship to the beach, but not before most of her gasoline supply had been dumped.

The repair of the carburetor was an easy task, but a wait was necessary for a new supply of gasoline, with indications that another start for Rome would not be made before tomorrow.

The Roma has no pontoons for landing on the sea, but if forced down might float provided her crew had time to dump her regular fuel load besides the 200 gallons in the reserve tanks before she struck the water.

International News Service.

The return of the Roma recalled the false start from the same beach of the ill-starred airplane Dawn of Mrs. Francis Wilson Grayson last year.

The ship had been hauled from the hangar of R. T. Hazard, prominent Maine and Massachusetts shoe manufacturer, had been tested and provisioned and the crew had said goodby to their relatives and friends.

TAKES DOWN BEACH

At 12:01 p. m. the Roma taxied down the beach in the sunlight and headed out to sea. Five minutes later she was lost to view.

Spectators were leaving when they suddenly saw the Roma returning.

Great quantities of gasoline were belching from the tanks of the airship. Those on shore realized that the Roma was "dumping her gasoline."

For a few moments there was some anxiety as to whether Pilot Williams would be able to make the beach. He accomplished the feat successfully, however.

"What happened?" he was asked by newspaper reporters.

"We dumped our gas," he replied and turned away.

She Sues!

"MISS PITTSBURGH"

Mary Lipinsky, since last Saturday "Miss Pittsburgh, 1928," is today also plaintiff in a civil suit for the prize she says was promised and now refused the winner in the contest, held at The Willows. She names I. C. Overdorff as promoter and asks $300 as compensation for the trip to Atlantic City she says should have been given her. The case, filed today, will be heard next Wednesday. Her attorney is O. Wicks Friedman.

CAR SPEED RAPPED

Complaints against the one-man cars and the speed-up system adopted recently by the Pittsburgh Railways Company were called to the attention of Council this afternoon by a committee of motormen and conductors headed by P. J. McGrath, secretary of the local street car union.

The street car men based their complaints on the charge that both the one-man cars and the fast schedules recently adopted are unsafe.

"Seventy per cent of the street cars now in operation are one-man cars," McGrath charged.

Some of the complaints against the street car service that have reached Council are due to the fast schedules, McGrath said.

PASSENGERS KICK

"From 4 to 12 minutes have been taken off the running time on various routes," he went on. "The men, in their attempt to keep to these schedules, pass people. The people know what is going on. What we are interested in primarily is showing that the one-man cars and the fast schedules are not safe. We feel the company is getting entirely away from safety."

The increasing use of one-man cars will cause 200 men to be furloughed in a week or two, he said, explaining, "That means they will be out of a job."

The committee appearing before council include William White, president of the union; M. J. O'Connor, A. H. Logue, W. R. Gallagher, John W. Lucey and John F. Murphy.

DETROIT'S 10c FARE BUSSES BOOM

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—The Detroit Motor Bus Company is giving its passengers their money's worth for 10 cents. The longest route operated covers a distance of 15 miles. The average length of the nine routes is 9 miles. Free transfers are given between the routes. The longest route on Pittsburgh's 25-cent bus line is seven miles.

The line does not offer direct competition to the street cars. Streets have been selected which tap territories not directly reached by the car lines.

The municipal street car line also operates busses as feeders for its regular routes, with transfer privileges from one type of service to the other.

$150,000 Fire Hits Town

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 19.—Cochranton was swept by its most disastrous fire early today, suffering loss estimated at $150,000. Six buildings were virtually destroyed, including the Cochranton Times Print Shop, George Myers' Bakery, Boyd Cooper's Restaurant, Curtis Grocery and Snyder's Meat Market, and the Dunn Livery barn.

The fire started in the Dunn barn and, fanned by a brisk wind, quickly communicated to adjoining buildings. Progress of the flames was halted when they reached the brick walls of the First National Bank.

Firemen of Franklin and Meadville fought the blaze for three hours, aided by a pumper of the Fort Pitt Construction Company, which pumped water from French Creek.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Col. C. C. McGovern, of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county commissioners, testified in the Vare-Wilson senatorial contest hearing before Senator Waterman (R), of Colorado, today, that "some" of the nine judges chosen there in 1927 were fraudulently elected.

"That was a crooked election," he charged. "Some of the judges who are on the bench shouldn't be there. They were beneficiaries, knowingly or not, of crookedness."

BLAMES MACHINE

McGovern charged that a small group within the Pittsburgh Republican organization regularly prostitutes elections.

This precipitated a violent argument and recrimination from the attorneys engaged.

McGovern, chairman of the Pittsburgh registration commission under the Pinchot administration, made the statement, answering questions for counsel for William B. Wilson, Democrat, who is contesting Vare's seat.

McGovern was allowed to testify in substantiation of his charge that in the 1927 county primary election about 200 election officials had been convicted of wrongful acts in handling the ballots, Chairman Waterman ruling that though this election was a year after the Vare election the Wilson forces were entitled to show—if they could—"a continuing conspiracy to defraud in elections."

PRITCHARD AROUSED

Rowland B. Mahany asked if it was not true that the Republican organization had defended the convicted election officials, and further if "Charles B. Pritchard, an attorney for Mr. Vare now here, was not a lawyer in the case."

"That's a vile insinuation, made for spite in the endeavor to accuse wrongfully the Pittsburgh Republican organization," Pritchard cried, leaving his seat at the table.

McGovern was turned over to Edward Kelly, chief of the Vare counsel, for cross-examination and for some moments the colloquy threatened to get the investigation into a tangle because McGovern refused flatly finally to answer one series of questions.

"Were the elections crooked in Allegheny county in 1927?" Kelly demanded.

"Very," McGovern responded.

"Even the election of the judges?"

"Yes, some of the judges now sitting in Allegheny county shouldn't be on the bench," the the witness responded.

"Were the judges guilty of crookedness in this election?" Kelly pursued.

"FRAUD BENEFICIARIES"

"The beneficiaries of crookedness," the witness returned.

"Will you name the judges whom you have pronounced the beneficiaries of crookedness in the 1927 election?"

"You needn't answer that question," Mahany interjected from the group of Wilson lawyers.

"Oh, yes, you have to," Kelly exclaimed, and the argument was on between all of the lawyers when Chairman Waterman cut in.

"You have opened the door so wide in this proceeding," the chairman ruled, "that unlimited cross examination is allowed as to this witness."

McGovern, as the question was repeated, said he would have to "refresh my memory with documentary evidence before I answer."

"Name me one judge now improperly sitting in Allegheny

GHOST PROVES SHY, FAILS TO FLIT

The Greenfield ghost failed to show last night.

Several thousand curious citizens lined Hazelwood avenue and peered uneasily into Calvary Cemetery for the sight of a gleaming specter flitting among tombstones—but it didn't flit.

Today it appears that the biggest mystery since Billy Patterson was struck has evaporated—unless the spectre confuses ghost experts by returning tonight.

Nobody seems to have established who or what the ghost was. One scientific opinion is that the ghost was naught but one pair of automobile lights after another. A second scientific opinion is that the ghost was naught but two pairs of automobile lights after another. If you are gifted with a minimum of imagination you can well surmise what a third scientific opinion would be.

The ghost expert for this newspaper, a persistent soul with a nose for news and hay fever, remained up most of the night (for the first time in a long career) hoping to interview the shadow in much the manner he had hoped to interview Queen Marie, Casey Stengel and Mrs. Coolidge. His vigil unrewarded, the expert concluded that the ghost was afraid either of a warrant from Alderman Verona or a warrant from a city detective.

However, a poll was taken. Three unidentified persons, unanimous strangers to each other, were asked to identify the ghost as best they could. In signed statements they each said just this:

"It's the ghost of John Barleycorn, come back to register Democratic."

SMITH MAKES PA. GAINS, HOOVER RETAINS LEAD

Gov. Alfred E. Smith has been receiving good support in counties adjacent to Allegheny county in addition to the strong favor which has met his candidacy in Allegheny county, according to indications of the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

A volume of ballots has been received from Westmoreland and Fayette counties in the latest returns in the poll and while Hoover is given a lead Smith is showing unusual strength. The Democratic candidate also has a lead in Philadelphia in the latest returns and ran even in Scranton.

The predominance of returns from numerous rural counties, however, give Hoover the lead for the day and increases his lead in the poll to date to 5,664. Returns for the day were unusually numerous, a total of 2,123 ballots being recorded.

The standing to date in the Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the nation-wide canvass by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover 18,671, including 13,191 men and 5,480 women; Smith 12,763, including 9,366 men and 4,397 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge 22,880, including 16,026 men and 6,854 women; Davis 2,938, including 2,293 men and 645 women; LaFollette 2,139.

SMITH BLAMES G. O. P. FOR FARM ILLS

"Stay Out in the West, Al!" -:- As Campaigning Starts -:- "I'm Working the East!"

AL SMITH

The best place to get on the Smith bandwagon these days is ont in the West.

ALFRED E. SMITH

Alfred Emanuel Smith, named word for word for the Guv'nor, is just three months old. "Smith," says his father, "is good enough for him."

SPECIAL

This is the Smith Special, touring all over the West, just so that the governor can stump about a bit in his own campaigning.

EAST

And Hoover, perhaps by gentleman's agreement, takes to the East. Here Newark's mayor, Raymond, greets him just before Hoover's stirring speech.

WEST ORANGE

And so to West Orange, where Hoover visited with Thomas A. Edison at the Edison Laboratories. New Jersey received Hoover wildly.

FIGHT

Thus, the fight is on, the campaign started, "No Quarter" the battlecry.

SMITH SLASHES G. O. P. ON FARM RELIEF

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
(International News Service.)

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 19.—Gov. Al Smith was back today in his familiar role of a slashing, fighting, aggressive campaigner.

His first big speech in which he was satirical and sa tic over the Coolidge-Hoover record on farm relief, the Democratic nominee turned southward toward Oklahoma to continue carrying war into the corn and wheat country.

Gov. Smith fed the fires of Republican discord in the grain belt by his Omaha speech last night. And at the same time he went a long way toward meeting the demands of the Western farm organizations that for two years have solidly backed and bitterly fought for the McNary-Hausen bill.

Without mentioning the famous equalization fee by name, Gov. Smith did endorse the fundamental principle of it. And that was what the farm leaders wanted to hear.

Eight thousand people, all that could be squeezed into Omaha's auditorium, came to their feet with a roar of approval when the Governor boldly flung a challenge to Secretary Hoover to politically go to the mat with him on the issue in the Middle West.

As for his own position, he outlined it thus:

"Various people have attempted to misrepresent and confuse my attitude with respect to the McNary-Haugen bill. I do not propose to leave the slightest doubt in anybody's mind on the subject.

"As I read the McNary-Haugen bill, its fundamental purpose is to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus with the cost imposed upon the commodity benefitted. For that principle the Democratic platform squarely stands, and for that principle I squarely stand.

"Mr. Hoover stands squarely opposite to this principle by which the farmer could get the benefit of the tariff. What remains of the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of method.

"Here is a clean cut issue which the farmers and the voters of this country must decide."

Prior to the definition of his own position, Gov. Smith had ripped into the Republican record on farm relief with both hands.

Calling both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover by name, he accused the President, in effect, of "gold-bricking" the farmer throughout his administration, and declared that Mr. Hoover proposed to continue that policy.

Agriculture, he said, was sick in 1924 and the Republicans "solemnly promised to put agriculture on a basis of economic equality with industry." He read it from the Republican platform of 1924, and then read the identical phrase in the platform of 1928.

"In other words," he said, "having promised it four years ago and having failed to deliver, the only thing left to do was to promise it again."

FLORIDA STORM TOLL REACHES 400

veering toward the Virginia Capes, Florida today reported casualties in the thousands and an emergency requiring military aid and immediate relief.

Gov. John Martin authorized military units to proceed into the stricken areas, from Tampa, Arcadia and other points, instructing Adjt. Gen. V. B. Collins to confer with the Red Cross at West Palm Beach and use his troops accordingly.

The United States Army co-operated to the extent of sending 1,000 Army cots from the Fourth Corps Area headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga., and seven disaster relief workers were moving into the West Palm Beach area from the Washington offices of the Red Cross. The United States Public Health Service authorized a representative to co-operate from Jacksonville, and planned to expedite delivery of anti-toxins.

Typhoid and other serums were badly needed, particularly in the Okeechobee section, where sanitary conditions were extremely serious. Relief workers sent in from Miami reported that 150 bodies had been counted south of Pahokee, and only 11 had been moved in the town, due to poor facilities. Many were left on dikes to await trucks.

ATLANTIC CITY HIT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 19.—(A.P.)—Portions of the Inlet section were flooded, trees were uprooted, signs and wires torn from their fastenings and windows smashed by the tail-end of the West Indian hurricane which has been lashing this city during the past 18 hours.

The wind which attained a maximum velocity of 72 miles per hour at 7:30 o'clock this morning had dropped to 60 miles an hour at noon.

In the Inlet section, many streets were covered with water ranging from 6 to 18 inches in depth. Some houses have been flooded and the trolley service in the upper end of the city has been interrupted.

At Maine and Atlantic avenues, the most exposed section, waves from the inlet were breaking under the boardwalk and washing across the street. The boardwalk itself was apparently undamaged although it was impassable from flying spray, which at times dashed as high as 50 feet in the air.

9 MI. FOR DIME IN DETROIT BUS

them are single deck busses. Several twin-coaches, which are exact duplicates of Pittsburgh Motor Coach equipment, are in operation as experiments. But the Detroit Motor Bus Company does not claim to have a "luxurious service worth 25 cents," as does the Pittsburgh organization.

The profits available from the efficient operation of a low cost bus line can be seen in the fact that the Detroit Motor Bus Company started operations on June 11, 1920, with eight busses. At the end of 1927 it owned and operated 255 busses. Since then additional equipment has been placed in service.

In 1927 it carried 57,984,649 passengers on the city lines alone. Its busses operated 8,605,919 miles. An average of 4.4 passengers were carried per bus mile.

In addition to this, service is operated to suburban points as far away as 30 miles on a zone fare system.

The 10-cent fare is allowing the bus lines here to show a profit. In 1927 net income of $319,400 was reported. This was equivalent to $1.22 a share on the stock of $10 par value. Dividends of 80 cents a share are being paid annually.

In his answer to The Sun-Telegraph exposure of the unfairness of the 25-cent bus charge, President A. W. Robertson, of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, gave the high rate of depreciation as one contributing factor to the great cost of operation. Mr. Robertson stated that it was necessary to replace busses in less than four years with new equipment. Accordingly it is the company's practice to deduct 25 per cent of the value of the equipment from each year's earnings as a depreciation reserve.

The Detroit Motor Bus Company has cars in operation which were purchased eight years ago. After the busses have been run 70,000 to 80,000 miles they are sent to the company shop and are completely torn down and rebuilt. Using this system they depreciate equipment over a period of 10 years and charge the rebuilding cost to current operations.

Even after making allowances for the fact that Pittsburgh is not as ideal a city for bus operations as is Detroit, practical bus men here were astounded upon hearing that a 25-cent fare is charged. "I don't see how they can get away with it," was the usual exclamation.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 19.—The State Highway Department will pay for paving 18 feet in the center of Mercer street between Stewart and Columbia avenues. The borough will pave to the curb.

BARON HOPS OFF FOR BAGDAD

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 19.—(A.P.)—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenfeld, who is making a flight to Tokio, hopped off at 10:10 a. m. today for Bagdad, Irak. The baron, who flew across the Atlantic in the Bremen, arrived here yesterday from Berlin with Karl Linder, Swedish pilot, and Paul Lenderich, mechanic, in a new plane christened the Europa, which is a sister ship to the Bremen.

county as a result of that crooked election," Kelly declared.

PROMISES ANSWER

"I'll not answer that question at this time but I'll be willing to do so later," McGovern returned. "It is my belief that there are some improperly sitting and that belief is based on personal investigation."

Kelly went down the list of nine judges sitting at Pittsburgh and demanded as to each man whether McGovern considered him improperly seated by election frauds and McGovern refused to answer.

"I can't compel the witness to answer," Chairman Waterman said when the attorney appealed to him.

"But you can," Kelly insisted. "It's contempt of the Senate to refuse."

"That may be true, but it will take further proceedings of some kind," the chairman told him.

Kelly reiterated his question demanding the name "of a single judge in Allegheny county corruptly elected in 1927," and the Wilson lawyers objected to the query and made an argument to Chairman Waterman. In the following discussion the chairman declared that the proceeding "had gotten far outside of any proper scope."

"This proceeding has degenerated into a purile investigation," the chairman finally ruled, "and has ceased to bear any resemblance to a legal trial of a right to hold office. If the inquiry had been properly restricted, this witness would not now be in the position he holds. He is, notwithstanding, entitled to some protection. The chair will require the witness to answer the question, but not at the moment."

Sun-Telegraph Paris Service Appreciated

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McKerahan, 111 Blackhawk street, in a letter today thanked the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for services rendered them while in France recently by the Paris office of this newspaper. The same service may be had by all readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph visiting in Paris. Mr. and Mrs. McKerahan wrote as follows:

"Editor of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph:

"This is a note to you to express our appreciation of the courtesy extended to American travelers by your Parisian office in France.

"While in Paris this summer we called several times at No. 2 Rue de la Paix and were most graciously received by the secretary in charge there. We appreciated the care taken of our foreign and home mail by this secretary. It was a real boon to 'strangers in a strange land.' Further, the opportunity to read the home newspapers was a joy to us while so widely separated from the home folks.

Weather Conditions.

The tropical storm continued its northeastward course and is apparently centered off the North Carolina coast this morning. Heavy rains have fallen in its immediate path, and rain is falling inland this morning as far as Johnstown and confluence. A maximum wind velocity of 72 miles an hour occurred at Atlantic City during the night.

High pressure covers the Mississippi valley and Lake region, with the center, 30.38, at Montreal. A trough of low pressure extends from Manitoba southwestward to Arizona, with principal center at Minnedosa, Man., 29.42, while high pressure overlies the North Pacific coast.

Weather is generally fair throughout the country today, except along the Middle and North Atlantic coast and for some distance inland.

It is cooler in the states east of the Mississippi and the northwestern states, while it is somewhat warmer in the Plains states.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 9.7; Dam No. 2, 8.5, and Dam No. 6, 7.0 feet. The dams are up. The rivers will change but little.

KLINE MAY SWING AX ON VERONA'S HEAD

The fate of John J. Verona's job as police magistrate of Pittsburgh is hanging in the balance.

"I have not yet decided what to do," said Mayor Charles H. Kline early today, "I expect to discuss the entire case with Director of Public Safety Clark and Superintendent of Police Walsh. I may have something to say after that."

Numerous complaints, both from politicians and civic bodies, reached the Mayor yesterday concerning the action of Magistrate Verona in attempting to arrest and keep the police officers in charge of his ward—the Third — in jail over Saturday night and Sunday.

While the Mayor steadfastly refused to discuss the proposition, there is no doubt that a serious demand has been made upon him to remove Verona from the magistrate's position.

Regarding the entire squabble between the police and the Verona and McManus constables as a smoke-screen to hide the battle between "racketeers," bootleggers and gangs, numerous friends of the Mayor urged him yesterday to take all possible steps to prevent Pittsburgh from getting into the control of "mobs" similar to those that have dominated politics and business in Chicago and Philadelphia, and to protect Police Inspector James M. Hoey, whose activities against gambling and vice on the "Hill" precipitated the present crisis.

Senator James J. Coyne, an avowed political enemy of Verona, denied last night that he had made any demand for the latter's removal as magistrate.

"Why should I?" he asked. "The Mayor knows what has been going on. I don't think it is right or legal for any alderman, even if he is a magistrate, to arrest police officials on Saturday night and refuse to admit them to bail, claiming that they should not be released on bail until Monday. Judge Moore, when he heard about it early Sunday morning, released one of the officials on bail immediately. If any man can send one policeman to jail Saturday night and keep him there until Monday, what is to prevent a combination of aldermen or constables from issuing warrants against the entire police force, keeping them in cells over the week-end and permitting yeggs and thugs to loot the entire town in the meantime?"

HOOVER SET TO INVADE SOLID SOUTH

Quarter Busses Necessary? :-: Busy 10-Cent Detroit Lines Prosper :-: Single-Decked Cars, Too!

ALL PARTS

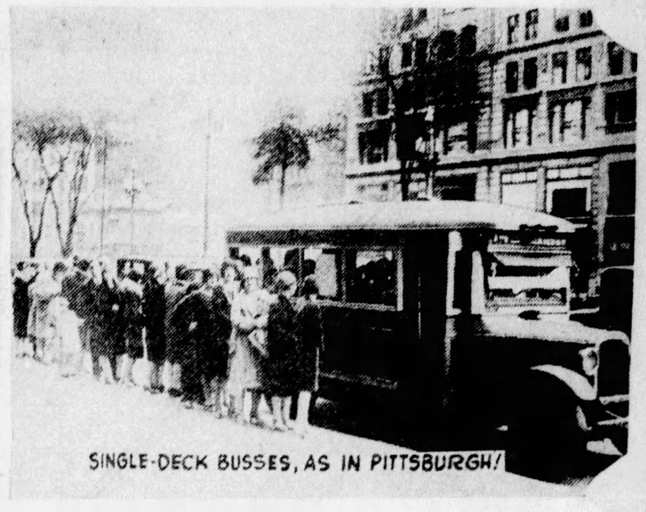
Crowds of workers in Detroit ride the busses, and bus lines go to all parts of the city. This photo, just taken, shows workers ready to board busses in Woodward avenue at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The fare, you know, is 10 cents, as it is in practically every city in the country. Pittsburgh is an exception with its 25-cent bus rate.

GRAND CIRCUS

Grand Circus Park, Detroit, is a great bus terminal. The 10-cent rate brings volume business and volume business means operation of more busses, on better schedules, and makes necessary terminals such as this one. If there were volume business in Pittsburgh on the bus lines, terminals rather than curb stops would perhaps be necessary here, too.

FEW MINUTES

Just a few minutes pass between busses on lines running to various outlying parts of the city of Detroit. Most of the lines are "long hauls," so-called. Volume of business brought by reasonable bus fares quickens the schedules. And all of this, it is obvious, brings prosperity to the bus operation company and cheaper transportation to the riders.



THEY PAY

Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company officials in statements in the past week have said that operation of single-deck busses is not a paying proposition. Look at all the people here waiting for busses at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in Detroit. They are waiting for single-deck busses! Would it appear logical that with all this business single-deck busses are unprofitable?

N. J. HELD HIS, HOOVER PLANS DRIVE IN DIXIE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—While his party leaders predicted he had captured New Jersey's electoral vote on his two-day visit along the Atlantic seaboard, Herbert Hoover was back at his headquarters today launching preparations for his next great campaign drive—an invasion of the solid South next month.

The Republican nominee was well pleased at the greeting accorded him by New Jersey and at the friendly reception given his labor speech. On his tour, he extended his public utterances by reaffirming the Republican program for organized labor, featuring a pledge to provide a job for every man willing to work, by pleading for the election of a Republican Congress, by declaring against the injection of personalities into the campaign, and by delivering an eulogy of President Coolidge.

In asking for the election of a Republican Congress, Hoover declared "no national administration can succeed with only one branch of the political machinery in its control." He asked for the election of a Republican House and Senate, so Republican policies could be enacted into law.

LAUDS COOLIDGE AGAIN

The nominee confirmed a recent announcement that he opposed the injection of personalities into the campaign. He specifically urged voters to cast their ballots according to the judgments they formed on the records, policies and issues of the two contending parties.

"Our campaign is based on the presentation of the record of the party and its policies for the future," Hoover said. "It is not and should not be a campaign of personalities.

"I am convinced that the good sense of the American people will make them form their judgments on the record, the policies and the issues, and not upon personalities. This is as it should be."

In praising President Coolidge, Hoover followed the theme of his acceptance speech, in which he declared the President had "elevated economy and effectiveness in government to the rank of statesmanship." He praised Coolidge's "fine leadership, fine character, fine sense of duty and courage." Then he added a new thought by declaring:

"If I should be entrusted with these responsibilities (of the presidency), I would feel I had acquitted myself well if I could reproduce the courage, the intelligence and the the depth of moral courage of Calvin Coolidge in the solution of our governmental problems."

DR. GALBREATH MADE HEAD OF PRESBYTERY

The Rev. Dr. Robert Galbreath of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church was elected moderator of the Pittsburgh Presbytery yesterday at the opening of the sesquicentennial anniversary celebration of the Bethel Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Henry Brown of Shields, the retiring moderator, opened the meeting and the principal speaker was the Rev. W. D. Howell, educational worker. Services will be held tonight, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday morning.

Porto Rico Ruled by Troops

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—With reports of food rioting current, nine companies of the Porto Rican National Guard today were policing 23 towns of the island.

The guardsmen were called out by Gov. Horace M. Towner after reports became prevalent that in several towns devastated by the tropical hurricane starving people had stormed and looted stores.

Instructions were also issued to 25 volunteer reserve officers to proceed throughout the island, delivering emergency supplies, informing the inhabitants of relief plans and surveying the needs.

(Gov. Towner in a radio message to the War Department last night stated there was "no disorder anywhere" and there was "absolutely no necessity for martial law).

Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief for the American Red Cross, stated that food riots were increasing. Mayors of a dozen towns in appealing for aid, informed him that the people of their towns would mob them if they returned empty handed. They begged for something, either money or food, to take back with them. The mayors said their people were in a desperate plight and were plunged in despair because of lack of relief.

DOWNTOWN SKYLINE PICTURE OF PROGRESS

Great progress is being made by Pittsburgh, and if residents have any doubt about it they should drive up Mt. Washington's new roadway and take a look at the skyline, J. M. Williams, industrial secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, suggested yesterday to the members of the Credo Club of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania at a meeting held in the chamber. He predicted that improved transportation means the future growth of the city will be in the boroughs and townships.

He spoke regarding plans for a rail and river terminal, parks, aviation fields, more roads, more railroad improvements, building of schools and especially higher institutions of learning, declaring that Pittsburgh's educational advantages are not surpassed by any other city in this country.

NEW PLANE LANDS IN TENTH USUAL DISTANCE

LE BOURGET, France, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—A virtually vertical landing on the airport here yesterday brought to a close the longest trip ever performed in one day by an autogyro or "near helicopter" flying machine. The contraption, which left Croydon Field, England, yesterday morning, was piloted by J. De La Cierva, it's inventor.

"It was much easier than I thought it would be," he exclaimed as he dismounted here.

The machine, which carries four huge blades rotating horizontally on its top in addition to the regular propeller of an ordinary plane on its nose, averaged 100 miles an hour while it was in the air. It made three landings en route, at Lympne, Kent, England; at St. Inglevert, near Cape Gris-Nez, and at Abbeville.

The Abbeville stop was not on the program, but Senor Cierva denied that anything had gone wrong with his machine.

"I just stopped there for luncheon," he said.

When the machine landed here it came to a full stop on the ground only 200 feet from the perpendicular point where gas was cut off in the air. This is about one-tenth of the distance travelled by regular airplanes after landing. The machine was only 150 feet in the air when it began its descent.

Senor De la Cierva was rather abashed by the attention shown him at the field. He was met officially by Col. Segui, military attache, and Secretary Aguinago of the Spanish embassy. In the crowd at the field were many engineers and experts, including Count De la Vaux, noted for his ballooning exploits.

Senor Cierva intends to remain here until Friday when he expects to take off for Brussels.

Pleads for Welfare Chest

An appeal for support of community giving was made by Howard Heinz yesterday before the preliminary canvass committee of the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh at a meeting in the William Penn Hotel.

The meeting was called to consider plans preliminary to the campaign November 12 to 22 for the cooperative financing of 21 philanthropic organizations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county through the Welfare Fund.

A. K. Oliver, president of the Welfare Fund, explained the purpose of the preliminary canvass, and Wilbur F. Maxwell, executive secretary, described the budget system in connection with the work.

Other members of the committee attending the meeting were: Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. C. A. Verner, Mrs. John M. Phillips, Mrs. Harry J. Miller, Mrs. John W. Lawrence, Miss Eleanor Hanson, Mrs. William Frew, Mrs. Ambrose M. Diehl, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, Alexander Laughlin, A. H. Burchfield, M. W. Acheson, Jr., W. F. Bickel, George H. Clapp, G. G. Coolidge, J. F. Drake, Leslie M. Johnston, Irvin F. Lehman, William S. Moorhead, George P. Rhodes, R. Templeton Smith.

GIRL HIKER READY FOR MURDER EXTRADITION

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Sheriff O. J. Skelly of Venango County today said that the mother of Laveda Boyle, young Cranberry township woman wanted in Summit County, O., on a second degree murder charge, had withdrawn her objection to the extradition of her daughter.

The sheriff added he expected an Ohio official to arrive here this afternoon to arrange removal of the girl to Akron, near which city she is charged with having fatally shot Robert P. McCormick, an automobile salesman, last Thursday, while she was "hitch-hiking" from Oklahoma to Pennsylvania.

Sheriff Skelly said the young woman was apparently tiring of jail life, having been incarcerated here since last Saturday. She has said she was willing and ready to return to Ohio, but her mother objected until today, according to authorities.

The girl, talking with newspaper men in jail, advised against girls "hitch-hiking" alone. She has said she shot McCormick when he and another man persisted in making advances after she entered their machine, and because of this experience, she declared, she knew it was unsafe for a young woman to travel unaccompanied.

OHIO STARTS ACTION

AKRON, O., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—County Prosecutor Oscar Hunsicker has assigned Mrs. Greta Footman, Summit county probation officer, to go to Columbus to carry out extradition details in the case of Laveda Boyle, 18-year-old "hitch-hiker" wanted here for second degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Robert P. McCormick. Mrs. Footman was instructed to proceed to Harrisburg, Pa., after completing her mission at Columbus.

HOOVER CLUBS ENROLL 21,000

More than 30 branch clubs, under the central committee of the Hoover-Curtis Boosters' Committee in the Union Bank building, have been established in Allegheny County to carry out the committee's campaign program, Attorney Frank Canuti, chairman of membership, announced at a meeting last night. The committee now has more than 21,000 members.

Under the leadership of Miss Marie B. Black, vice-chairman of the Boosters' Committee and head of the women's auxiliary, 100 women of the organization will establish booths in manufacturing plants and buildings about the county, to enroll new members. The women will distribute propaganda and give talks for Hoover, urging the support of the Eighteenth Amendment as an economic necessity.

THREE BOY SCOUTS BACK FROM AFRICAN LION HUNT

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Three 15-year-old Boy Scouts, home today from a six weeks' adventure into the interior of Africa, agreed that their greatest thrill was experienced while hunting lions.

Each had bagged a lion while guests of the safari of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson in East Africa. They brought their lion skins and the skin of a gazelle as a gift for James E. West, Boy Scout executive.

The boys, David R. Martin, Jr., of Austin, Minn.; Douglas L. Oliver, of Atlanta, Ga., and Robert D. Douglas, of Greensboro, N. C., arrived on the liner Paris. They were selected for the adventure because of outstanding qualities in a general competition among the Boy Scouts of America. They sailed from New York June 9 and arrived in Mombasa July 8. Their return trip was started from Mombasa August 19.

Although the boys took bows and arrows, they said they had little opportunity to use them. Douglas hit a lion in the leg with an arrow, but the beast escaped.

Douglas said his greatest thrill came when, within 30 feet of a lion, he brought it down with a rifle shot.

Oliver said he was not sure that the lion he had shot was dead until he took off his shoes and threw them at the beast.

The boys go today to Rye, N. Y., as guests of George Palmer Putnam, the publisher, who with James E. West, chief Scout executive, arranged the expedition.

Douglas said he expected to enter Georgetown University to study journalism, Martin plans to enter the University of Chicago after a preparatory course, and Oliver plans later to study medicine.

VOTE MACHINE DRIVE BEGUN

Seeking support for the amendment to the State Constitution that would permit the use of voting machines in Pennsylvania, Senator Frank J. Harris, sponsor of the proposal, left for the eastern part of the state last night.

His first move will be to discuss the proposition with leaders of the Vare organization in Philadelphia, including County Commissioner George H. Holmes, who has been active throughout the state in the interests of Senator William S. Vare.

During his trip Senator Harris expects to take up the voting machine with former Lieut. Gov. Edward E. Beidleman, Dauphin county leader.

SLUGGED AFTER CAFE TIFF

Attacked by a man he had reprimanded a short time before for using abusive language in a restaurant in Penn avenue near Twenty-eighth street, A. J. Peck, 33, of 233 Forty-second street, was knocked down last night as he was leaving the restaurant.

Suffering concussion of the brain, Peck, a railroad machinist, was taken to St. Francis Hospital in a serious condition. Police learned the identity of the assailant, who, they said, also is a railroader, residing in Burgettstown.

21 SEIZED IN 4 HILL RAIDS

Ten men and 11 women, five of them Negroes, were arrested by Hill district police in raids upon four alleged disorderly houses. Two squads of police led by Acting Capt. John Schnorr and Lieut. George Hook raided the houses and lodged the prisoners in the Center Avenue Police Station pending a hearing in Morals Court.

Lovena Fowler, of 315 Moore street, and George Williams, of 90 Crawford street, were charged with keeping a disorderly house. The proprietors of 1916 Enoch street and 158 Elm street were out at the time. The others are charged with visiting a disorderly house.

TWO CLAIRTON MEN HAVE FEET CRUSHED

Two Clairton men, each with a crushed foot, are in McKeesport hospital as a result of accidents last night. Hugh Wilson, 37, of 720 Sixth street, Pennsylvania railroad freight conductor, suffered a badly mangled right foot when it was caught under a shifting car in the Peters Creek yards, Clairton. His foot was amputated above the ankle. Gustave Anderson, 27, of 219 Fourth street, motorcycle patrolman for the Carnegie Steel Company, suffered a badly injured left foot when his car collided with an automobile driven by Oliver Smith, of Coal Valley, at Locust and Sixth streets, Clairton. Smith was not hurt.

W. B. WISON'S DAUGHTER CALLED SERIOUSLY ILL

BLOSSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—The condition of Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, daughter of William B. Wilson, secretary of labor under Woodrow Wilson, was reported as much improved last night. Miss Wilson, however, is still in a serious condition. She was operated upon at Blossburg State Hospital for stomach trouble. Miss Wilson is the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Sixteenth District, opposing Edgar R. Kiess, incumbent.

Pet Shop Dog Eats Canary, Fellow Captive

A huge German police dog broke out of his cage in the Art Pet Shop, 104 Smithfield street, early today and killed one canary before police, summoned by the noise of his raid, could batter down the door and capture him. The frightened cries of the pets attracted a crowd of early risers.

HIS BABE GIVEN STRANGER, FATHER SUES HOSPITAL

DETROIT, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—A few moments' confusion in a hospital here five years ago that changed the destiny of the life of a two weeks' old child and gave rise to a mystery, which never has been solved, was described yesterday in Circuit Court.

The incident which may mean the separation forever of a father from his son, forms the basis of a $200,000 suit brought by William C. Greatrex, Detroit, against the Evangelical Deaconess Hospital for the loss of his child.

Mrs. Purcell Vernier, the nurse who gave Greatrex's boy baby to Alfonso Vlemminck, Belgian immigrant, in the belief that she was placing the infant in the hands of its father, told of the tragic incident.

It was in September, 1923, that the mistake occurred. The nurse had been on a vacation. The Greatrex baby was in the hospital for an operation, following the death of its mother at its birth. About that time a son was born in the hospital to Eva Vlemminck, unwed mother.

Then Mrs. Vernier returned. She received from two doctors an order for discharge of the Greatrex baby, she testified. A few moments later, a man called and said he had come for his baby. Mrs. Vernier did not ask his name but gave him the Greatrex baby, believing he was Greatrex, who in the meantime was returning his life's body to Toronto, Ont., her former home, for burial.

The man, who it later developed, was Vlemminck, left with the baby. The child was never seen after that.

Greatrex returned and asked for his child. He was given the Vlemminck baby, which he immediately declared was not his own.

Vlemminck said he had given the baby to some passing motorists, bound for a city in Pennsylvania. He said he did not ask their names.

Greatrex, seeking damages after five years' search for his son, charges negligence. This is denied by hospital authorities, who also contend they are not subject to liability because the hospital is a charitable institution.

SMITH REPLIES TO QUIZ

ANSWER EIGHT QUESTIONS PUT IN OMAHA

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Winding up his address in Omaha last night, Gov. Smith answered eight questions dealing with prohibition, farm relief and the tariff, which he had been asked in a full page advertisement carried in the newspapers and signed by 10 Nebraskans.

They styled themselves "Citizens of Both Parties," but Arthur Mullen, Democratic national committeeman, said all were Republicans. Their names are A. W. Jeffries, Wayland Magee, Harry E. Sackett, Norris Brown, Ernest M. Pollard, Clarence A. Davis, Fred Wead, Charles E. Sandall, E. O. Brown and L. R. Sloneckei.

SMITH ANSWERS

The text of the questions as read and the governor's replies follow:

Q.—"What specific federal legislation do you propose for farm relief?"

A.—"If these gentlemen had read my speech of acceptance there would be no occasion for that question. I made that clear in Omaha tonight, that the legislation working out the principle of lifting the surplus is to be handed to a commission to be worked out during the winter."

Q.—"Do you believe the country will be more prosperous with liquor or without? Why?"

A.—"Well, I assume that this is an intelligent group of men that have an understanding of what is going on around the country. Nobody, no living person, no matter how wise, no matter how well informed, no matter how far seeing could make any answer to that question, because there has never been liquor out of this country."

Q.—"Do you believe that liquor is the great issue in this campaign?"

A.—"I certainly do not."

Q.—"How can you square your support of Democratic candidates for Congress pledged against liquor with what you say you will do for liquor?"

CAN ONLY RECOMMEND

A.—"Why, I don't know what idea these men must have of the debates, the platform and the speeches of acceptance. If they paid the slightest attention to anyone they could not ask that kind of a question, because there is nothing that the President can do about liquor. All he can do is recommend to the Congress, and he can assume the leadership of the American people in an effort to show them that his recommendation is right. That is what I propose to do, and let the American people make the decision as they will have to do."

Q.—"How can I support a dry Democrat candidate for Congress?"

A.—"That question came up in the national convention, and the national convention deliberately, through the report of the committee on credentials, left every Democrat in the United States free to express his own individual opinion of what he thought on that subject."

"Now, you have an admirable, scholarly gentleman running for United States Senator here, Mr. Metcalfe. I understand that Nebraska is dry, but I would never ask Mr. Metcalfe to turn his back on the people of his state until such time as he can come out here and convince them that they are not tackling the problem the right way."

Q.—"How will your proposal for the sale of liquor in a few states meet your issue of personal liberty in the other states?"

UP TO POLICE

A.—"The prevention of the sale of liquor is in the exercise of police power, and I have clearly showed that if a majority of the people of a given state voted for the exercise of that police power in that direction they should get it to the limit.

"On the other hand, following the well defined Jeffersonian principle of state's rights, the state that does not want the exercise of that police power ought to be in a position, through a majority of the people to say so.

Q.—"Are you still personally opposed to the St. Lawrence waterway?"

A.—"Why, if the gentlemen had just looked at my speech of acceptance, they would have seen that I made as clear a declaration on that as any man could make. I frankly said to the American people that, while I was the governor of the state of New York, I favored the All-American route, because it went through that state, but inasmuch as the figures affecting the St. Lawrence canal, as well as the all-American route, are disputed by some eminent engineers, I am willing to leave it to Congress, after a study of the matter."

"Now, No. Seven is something of a tricky question. It says:

"'You have stated that the Underwood tariff law fulfills the pledge of this year's Democratic platform.'

"My answer to these distinguished gentlemen is that I never said that and I challenge them to find it in any public paper of mine."

"The last one, Number Eight, is this:

"'Are you in favor of higher food prices in the city or lower food prices on the farm?'

"My answer to that is that the farmer can get the full benefit of the value of his crop without increasing the price in the city."

SCULPTOR DIES IN BRAZIL

William Spriestersbach, 82, a former Pittsburgh sculptor, died August 22 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, according to word received here. Mr. Spriestersbach had created many sculptures familiar in Pittsburgh, including the bust of Burns, now in Carnegie Institute, and the figure of Neptune at the entrance to Schenley Park.

When a boy he came to the United States from Germany, returning to study sculpture and music in the Art Conservatory of Munich, a fellow student of John Brashear, the late Pittsburgh astronomer.

For many years he was a member of the original Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, then under the direction of Carl Retter. He engaged in the hotel business here, then returned to Germany, and several years ago he moved to Brazil. He leaves his widow, a daughter and a sister. The sister is Mrs. John Hamm, of 2645 Pioneer avenue, Brookline.

CALIFORNIA-ALLENPORT BUS LINE FOUGHT BY R.R.

Testimony for and against the necessity of establishing a bus line between California and Allenport was heard yesterday before the Public Service Commission. Henry Delbarre, who already owns one line, is asking permission to establish the one to Allenport and is being opposed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the ground that there is no necessity for it.

Starts today and continues Thursday and Friday—the Sun-Telegraph FREE Cooking School. Be sure to attend—interesting lectures and demonstrations on cooking and home economics.

FIND GIRL, GONE 3 WEEKS, IN HOTEL

WOMAN, 69, FAINTS, IS BURNED TO DEATH

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—Burns suffered when she fainted while making jelly two weeks ago caused the death of Mrs. Jennie Ferris, 69, of West Overton, yesterday.

SHARON BUSINESS MAN HELD UP AND ROBBED

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 19.—Myer Ackerman, treasurer of a local bottling company, reported to police that he had been held up in Morrison street and robbed of $1,200 cash and checks for $500.

4 YOUTHS HELD AFTER MORALS HEARING

A three weeks' search for Dorothy Sage, 16, of 115 Berwick street, ended last night when Patrolman Edward Barry arrested the girl in a downtown hotel. As a result of the girl's story in Morals Court, Ted Parsons, 25, of Melwood street; Oscar Zang, 24, of Amber street; J. C. Brunocks, 26, of Carey way, and Charles Kaiser, 25, of Jacksonia boulevard, were held for court by Magistrate A. D. Branden. The girl was turned over to social workers.

All the accused denied the girl's charge. Kaiser said he met the girl once and when she complained of having no place to sleep took her to his home. He said the next morning the girl left, taking four dresses belonging to Mrs. Kaiser, a diamond ring and a pin. The girl admitted taking the dresses, but denied the theft of the jewelry.

HURT IN SAME CRASH, 4 SUE

Four suits totaling $100,000 were filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday against Arthur Claude Bright for injuries suffered by four persons in an automobile collision at Bigelow boulevard and Washington street on September 6.

Tony Leberto, driving the car with which Bright's collided, suffered fractures of the skull. Attorney George S. Goldstein filed the action. The others who bring suit include Mary Lippelo and her husband, Pete Lippelo, of 2204 Penn avenue, and Pete Ambrose and James Balassone, same address.

OHIOAN HELD IN DEATH OF HIT-RUN VICTIM

BRIDGEPORT, O., Sept. 19.—Joseph Elash, 29, miner, was killed by a hit-and-run driver. Yesterday police arrested Jack Palonek, of Lansing, O., and charged him with the death of Elash.

Starts today and continues Thursday and Friday—the Sun-Telegraph FREE Cooking School. Be sure to attend—interesting lectures and demonstrations on cooking and home economics.

H. L. SPENCER CHOSEN TEACHER TRAINING CHIEF

Herbert L. Spencer yesterday was named principal of the Henry Clay Frick training school for teachers, taking the place left vacant recently through the death of Dr. H. B. Davis. Mr. Spencer formerly was vice-principal of the school. His salary will be $5,000, plus the allowance the Board of Education grants for one month's work in summer.

'SHOO!' FRIGHTENS ROBBER

When a holdup man pressed a gun against the side of Charles R. Caldwell, of 137 Marshall avenue, North Side, last night, he thought it was a friend playing a joke.

"Get away; get away," Caldwell said, as he reached back—and felt a revolver. Imagine his astonishment when he turned and saw a frightened thug fleeing.

Caldwell, a broker, told detectives that he had registered at a polling place at Perrysville and Marshall avenues and was nearing his home when he encountered the robber.

BAKE-DAY DISCOVERIES —BETTER WAYS TO PRODUCE BETTER BAKINGS ALL EXPLAINED

At

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

FREE COOKING SCHOOL

at The Soldiers & Sailors Memorial Hall This Week

DOUBLE ACTING BAKING POWDER means a baking powder with two leavening units. One begins to work when the dough is mixed, the other waits for the heat of the oven, then both units work together.

MAKES BAKING EASIER

The baking methods of "yesterday" are just as much out of date as the gowns of bygone times. Systems have changed and changed radically. Great progress has been made. Baking is no longer the difficult, tiresome, uncertain task that it used to be.

Come and let

Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree

one of America's foremost Domestic Scientists tell you all about the remarkable new bake-day discoveries—how you may become a better cook—produce better, more wholesome bakings. See her demonstrate

CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST

BAKING POWDER

Feast your eyes on the delicious foods she prepares—listen to her interesting talks in which she explains how to avoid bake-day failures, disappointments and loss. Then, go home and Surprise your family with the most palatable pies, cakes, biscuits, doughnuts and cookies you ever served. You can, if you'll come.

SALES 2½ TIMES THOSE OF ANY OTHER BRAND

Save time, energy, money —don't market every day

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

It's such a relief not to have to go to market every day. Two or three times a week will do the job—with energy, time and money saved—if you have a General Electric Refrigerator.

For even the smallest model is so designed that it can hold a generous store of foods—several days' supply for the average family. And its temperature, of course, is just right to keep meats wholesome, milk sweet and salads crispy.

The General Electric Refrigerator actually makes a minimum of floor space yield a maximum of food space. That's because the chilling chamber is incredibly compact. The up-on-legs models make it so easy to keep the floor under them clean.

You will notice, too, that the General Electric has no belts or fans or drain pipes. That it has no machinery under the cabinet, inside—or in the basement. You will be glad that it needs absolutely no oiling. And your bills for electricity will tell you the pleasant story that this perfect refrigeration actually is economical.

Come in today and study the various models. And send for a booklet. If you wish, time payments can be arranged.

You can see at the Sun-Telegraph Cooking School how well food is kept in the G. E. Refrigerator.

Mrs. Crabtree

home economics expert, in charge of the Sun-Telegraph Cooking School, now being held at Memorial Hall, is using the G. E. Refrigerator exclusively.

Corned Beef

Croquettes

Same old corned beef hash? Perhaps—but try cooking it the French way, and see how crisp and brown the outside is and how moist and well cooked it is inside.

1 tablespoon chopped parsley	Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups mashed potatoes	2 tablespoons Crisco
3 cups finely chopped cold corned beef	¼ cup cream
	1 egg

Melt Crisco in a saucepan. Add the potatoes and cream and stir until well mixed and heated. Add the meat, salt and pepper. Take from the stove, add the chopped parsley and egg beaten light without separating. Mix well and put away to cool. When cold, form into croquettes, cover with egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep hot Crisco from 375-385° F. Serve hot, with poached egg on round of toast.

Wouldn't you hesitate to fry foods in a fat that you would be unwilling to taste? Of course you would! A cooking fat should be as fresh and sweet as milk or butter—and every good cook judges these foods by tasting them.

Just make this interesting test:

Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon. On the tip of a second spoon place a little of another shortening. Taste Crisco first, then the other shortening.

Doesn't the sweet, fresh taste of Crisco make you confident that it will improve the flavor of any food you prepare with it?

You taste your milk— You test your eggs—

NOW— taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company

CHANGE IN AUTO HONKING LAW PROPOSED

Autoists will not be required by law, to startle pedestrians whom they approach, if a proposed change of motor laws, advocated by the Pittsburgh Motor Club, is made.

C. H. Roth, secretary of the club pointed out that the "clearly-audible signal," which the motorist is required to give when approaching a pedestrian is a sound which often startles the pedestrian and results in his jumping into the path of the vehicle.

The proposal is that the Pennsylvania law be amended to provide that the motorist slow down when overtaking a pedestrian as provided by the Massachusetts motor laws.

STORE WINDOW LOOTED; BROKEN WITH STONE

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 19.—Sending a stone through the show window in the store of F. E. Oglevee at Vanderbilt, near here, robbers took every article, escaping with goods valued at $500.

CHICAGO YOUTH SAFELY BACK IN PARENTS' ARMS

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Billy Ranieri, 10-year-old kidnaped Italian boy, who for 13 days was held hostage by a band of Sicilian extortionists, under death threats, for a ransom of $60,000, was today restored unharmed to the arms of his frenzied parents.

At an early hour this morning Billy was discovered by George Mats, gasoline station attendant, while trudging along a deserted highway near Lockport, five miles north of Joliet, Ill.

Billy was taken to Lockport in a machine by four men. On the dark road outside of the village they halted the car and one of the men put a $10 bill in the boy's hand telling him to walk straight ahead until he reached a car line, instructing the boy to call his father by telephone as soon as he reached the city.

The lad walked until he saw the lights of an automobile service station. He went in and asked Mats to take him home, offering him the $10.

Recognizing the lad from pictures of the kidnaped boy, Mats telephoned Sheriff Albert S. Markgraf, who sent two deputies in a swift car. They took Billy to the Will County Jail.

After identification Sheriff Markgraf called Frank Ranieri, father of the boy, on the phone and told him that his son was safe. Upon receipt of this information the father collapsed.

Meanwhile at the Joliet jail the boy had been answering many questions.

"Where have you been? Where did the men keep you all this time?"

"I was in a farmhouse," said the boy. "There was another little boy there, but he lived there and he liked to be there and I didn't. He played with me in the daytime and slept with me at night."

"Were the people good to you and give you nice things to eat?"

"Sure," said Billy. "There was a lady and she gave me good things, but not as nice as mama always gives me. I want to see mama."

The boy told the police he did not know any of the men who had kidnaped him, but insisted that all but one of them had treated him kindly.

"One hit me in the eye because I cried," he said.

He had a discolered eye to confirm this.

As the expert concludes her demonstration, out of the oven comes the luscious, appetizing result of her skill. But before the dish went into the oven, she made sure that the mixture contained only the highest quality ingredients.

Whether you cook for an audience or a family, the quality of your ingredients is assured when you use goods that come packed in glass containers.

Only the highest quality foods can pass the rigid inspection to which glass packed goods are submitted. Flaky fish, tender meats, the first grade and choicest cuts, are tasty and appetizing when served from glass jars with convenient seals. The finest produce of farm, field and orchard, picked in its prime, comes to you full-flavored in its fresh natural color.

You will notice that glass packed goods play an important part in the cooking school expert's demonstration. She uses foods that come in glass containers, with handy seals, for quality, convenience and economy.

When you try in your kitchen the recipes you learned at the cooking school, use glass packed foods, as the expert does, to insure the utmost success, the true flavor, textures and aroma that make good food taste better.

You may find some glass-packed food products a little more expensive, but remember they are selected quality and full measure.

News Emanating From Hollywood Concerning Photoplay Favorites Combined With Notes About Playhouses

Greta Garbo Seems Certain To Have Nils Asther as Her Leading Man in Coming Film

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.

IT'S seldom, indeed, that Hollywood has an opportunity to get a look at Greta Garbo in person. The crowd lunching at the "Momart" saw her, however, as she chatted vivaciously with some girl friend whom nobody seemed to know. Greta is slender and willowy as ever. Just as pallid, but a trifle more animated than usual. As you know, she'll go to work in a new picture just as soon as "A Woman of Affairs" is completed by Clarence Brown, its director. The new one has a tentative title that is really red hot. Literally so, for its name is "Heat." But, of course, that will be changed. It was written by John Colton of "Rain" fame.

When Greta begins work it seems sure that Nils Asther will be her leading man. To strengthen the rumors that Jack Gilbert is going over to United Artists upon the expiration of his Metro contract, it looks as though the "breaks" are being shifted to Asther. He is being showered with opportunities to prove himself as big a box-office bet as Jack.

Bebe Daniels will be back home two weeks from now, all set for a picture after her New York vacation. Plans have changed since Bebe went away, and now they have decided to postpone her "Number, Please," telephone story, and substitute a newspaper yarn instead. It has no title yet. Why shouldn't "Wuxtry" be a good one? Neil Hamilton, who was to be in "Number, Please," is scheduled to be Bebe's leading man in the new picture.

Another little girl has received a great big break. Leone Lane, who used to play in two-reelers, has signed a Paramount contract. They're enthusiastic over Leone and declare that she's going to be a featured player right off the reel.

Jesse Lasky, of our village, is commuting to New York again. Jess was going to town Saturday, but postponed the trip for a couple of days. He's getting so he knows all the conductors by their first names, and can tell just where the train is by sticking his hand out the window and feeling the air.

Coffee and rolls have nothing on the affinity of Zane Grey and Jack Holt. Soon as Zane writes a story, Jack prepares to play in its screen version. The next one is "Sunset Pass." Otto Brower, who directed Jack in "Avalanche," will direct the "Pass" picture.

The Hollywood "extras" can't be accused of lacking ambition. And some of them must be credited with possessing ideas as well. One of the latest of these is the formation of a company known for the production of a series of two-reel dramatic novelties in which only "extras" will appear in the casts. Thus the down-trodden "extra" is presented with an opportunity to star. The cast will be totally changed for each of the series. So producers of "supers" will be able to see the new talent over which there is such a perpetual hue and cry. The first film is intriguingly titled "Women Were His Weakness." Owen Dolan, Adrienne Marsh, Sam Gervon and Justin Crayne are "whosinit." Note the names; Maybe you'll see them later in a real, big picture.

Bob Lissman, just returned from a continental tour, declares he saw the prettiest women in the world in Sweden. The English women aren't so hot for American screen types, Bob says, but there are lots of handsome Britons in the provinces who would be ideal as leading men for the movies. Furthermore, Lissman explodes a bomb under the myth that all Viennese women are raging beauties, by saying that the type preferred there has a too prominent chin and snub nose. So aside from the Swedes, American beauties are still supreme. Lissman scoured Europe seeking screen talent with a big bunch of contracts in his pocket.

Pauline Starke is killing several birds with a single stone. She is Broadway-bound on a shopping tour, which will keep her in Gotham until the premiere of her technicolored sound picture, "The Thrall of Liel the Lucky."

Ethel Jackson, 17, who wins all the dance cups offered in Hollywood, has been signed as leading woman in a dramatic novelty picture called "Up Hill and Down." It is the first of a series. Ethel, by the way, first attracted attention when she played no fewer than eight roles in Griffith's "Drums of Love."

LASSIES OF FILMDOM -:- PICTURED BY -:- CAMERA AND ARTIST

Raquel Torres, Eva Von Berne and Josephine Dunn board a seaplane for Catalina Island on a "flying swimming party," latest sport of movie folks.

Constance Talmadge, being an artist's "study" or something, of the popular film comedienne.

Dolores Del Rio of "Revenge" demonstrates "sweets from the sweet" for the benefit of the bear, who probably likes his jailer so well he would not be free.

ORCHESTRA LEADER AT SANDERS GIANT

"Kewpie" Morry Brennan is playing a one-week engagement with his orchestra at Sanders, on the Freeport highway, Aspinwall. "Kewpie" Brennan is six feet seven inches in height and weighs 348 pounds. He has assumed direction of ceremonies at Sanders, his orchestra playing for dancing.

O'NEILL PLAY LISTED

"Marco Millions," by Eugene O'Neill, is to be the first offering of the Theater Guild of New York in the Nixon, opening its Pittsburgh season Monday night, September 24. This is one of the greater successes of the Theater Guild, which has a national reputation as a producer of artistic plays, but which heretofore has confined its activities to New York.

Schwab and Mandel, producers of "The New Moon," recently here, will bring their musical comedy, "Good News" to the Alvin for a limited engagement opening next Monday evening. "Good News" is a college play with the usual number of freshies and staid seniors. Matinees will be Wednesday and Saturday.

Supplementing six acts of Keith-Albee vaudeville booked for the Davis stage next week, will be a feature screen comedy, "Vamping Venus," which will have Charlie Murray and Louise Fazenda in the leading roles.

How To Be Beautiful by Maria Jeritza

Relax for Loveliness

THERE is a joke in the Navy which I shall venture to repeat, because it brings out a point I wish to stress.

MARIA JERITZA

"Knock off work and carry pigiron," is this joke of the jolly tars.

Many a woman has an idea that she is relaxing when she closes her office desk and rushes home to cook dinner for herself and possibly others. Then she rests from cooking by washing dishes. Next comes recreation in the form of her laundry, which she washes and irons. She soothes her frazzled nerves by scurrying to the corner delicatessen in search of rolls and eggs for the following morning. Returning home, she makes a list of household errands, marketing, etc., she must attend to on the morrow, and if she is fortunate she slips into bed after a brief beauty ritual, at midnight. In the morning, she arises, puts herself and her tiny apartment in order and reports for work at 9 o'clock at the office.

This young woman—Jill, let us call her—wonders why she is not looking as fresh and fit as she should. She wonders why she is not advanced as rapidly as she would like at the office. She realizes vaguely that she is growing irritable and hard to get on with. The young man who seemed interested for a time no longer calls. What can be the matter, she wonders. Why does she fall just short of success in romance, business, charm and attractive appearance?

The answer is simple. If my friend Jill would but analyze the situation logically. She does not understand the importance of relaxation. Rest, recreation, fun, good times are not included in her scheme. All work and no play has made Jill a very dull girl, indeed.

When you come home tired out, after hard work at the office, lie down 15 minutes before dinner. Sleep five minutes if you can. Walking home from work will rest you if your work keeps you indoors bent over a desk. At any rate, try to spend a few moments outdoors, breathing deeply, before you go to bed.

You need play and plenty of it—good times—to vary your work.

Go on hikes, play tennis, enjoy the outdoors. Visit the theater and opera, join a club that will give you a pleasant evening once every week or two.

In the morning, before your bath, turn on your radio and prance through a few exercises, like the one I am about to describe. They will awaken you and start up circulation, then you will enjoy the day more because you will feel thoroughly fit.

Lie on the floor on your stomach with your feet held firmly down. Without helping yourself with your arms, lift your body as far backward from the waist as you can. Do this exercise slowly, not more than five times at first. Next, keeping your body flat on the floor, lift your legs as far off the floor as you can, putting your toes outward. Repeat this movement five times.

Eight hours of sleep nightly. Plenty of work and a fair amount of fun and relaxation will help keep you young and attractive.

Build Up Weight Quickly and Easily With New YEAST and IRON —or pay nothing

Nobody Admires a "Skinny" Woman

©I.Y.Co.

"I am a nurse at the hospital and I am writing you to let you know I am glad to recommend your tonic IRONIZED YEAST.

It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good IRONIZED YEAST did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days. I will send you some of my friends' names so you can write them about it." Martha Burns

People are amazed at the wonderful benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Many were doubtful before they started. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they gained 5 to 15 pounds. Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Blemished skin gets clear and beautiful.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe for all—no harmful drugs.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, your money back instantly. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 to IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 319-BO.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to gaining weight.

Thousands of Pennsylvanians Write Letters Like These!

What IRONIZED YEAST has done for all these folks it should certainly do for you. Take advantage of our generous trial offer. If not delighted, get your money back.

Rundown, Thin, Gains 7 Lbs.

"Was so rundown and thin didn't think anything would put flesh on me. But took IRONIZED YEAST and have gained 7 lbs. Sleep better, eat better and am not so nervous."—Mrs. J. L. Gager, Springs, Pa.

Didn't Put Much Stock In It Till He Gained 10 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

"My health began to fail. Never put much stock in advertisements till I tried IRONIZED YEAST. Gained 10 lbs. in 3 weeks and continued till I weighed what I should."—K. W. Resvick, Harrisville, Pa.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

VINCENT LOPEZ and a collection of hits from Broadway's musical shows will go far toward making tonight a night that will long be remembered by a great many of the listeners-in. They are not the only attractions that will be on the air, but they will add spice to a most attractive schedule.

Vincent Lopez will perform through WJAS at 10 o'clock, featuring a special arrangement of "On the Road to Mandalay."

The Broadway musical show hits will be the offering of the Ipana Troubadours, a WCAE feature at 9 o'clock. Among their offerings will be selections from "Scandals," the "Vanities," "Present Arms," "Rosalie," "Good News" and others.

Arcadie Birkenholz, violinist, will be the guest artist of the Sylvania Foresters from KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Birkenholz will play two solos, the first, "La Gitana," by Fritz Kreisler; the second, Krakauer's "Paradise." The Foresters, a male quartet, will open the program with two of Stephen Foster's Southern songs, "My Old Kentucky Home" and the plaintive "Old Black Joe." A medley of old airs, including "Dear Old Girl," "I'm Wearing My Heart Away for You" and "Goodby, Dolly, I Must Leave You," also will be heard.

Victor Herbert's comic opera, "The Fortune Teller," starring Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'Moore, will be produced as the Philco Hour feature through KDKA at 9 o'clock.

Cyril Scott's musical picture of the South Seas—"Lotus Land," and the American composer, Henry F. Gilbert's "Uncle Remus Rhapsody" are the symphonic features of the WCAE weekly Palmolive Hour at 9:30 o'clock.

The Palmolive Lovers, Olive Palmer and Paul Oliver, sound the usual sentimental note with "The Moon, Myself and You."

The WCAE Gospel songs period tonight at 7 o'clock will bring to listeners a talented male quartet, Gene Baldridge, Vincent and Max Kroen and Russell Mitchell, Jr., with Gertrude Mohr as accompanist.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, will address the radio audience of WJAS at 9 o'clock on behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. The Senator will speak from Detroit.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

CRANKING AUTOS IS GOOD AS COMPRESSION TEST

If an engine is not running well and a compression loss is suspected, the simplest way to detect it is to apply a crank and turn the engine over by hand, and thus feel the compression on each individual cylinder.

Some pistons will go over compression much easier than others, and this means that somewhere there is a leak in that cylinder. A leak appears far oftener in the valves than any place else.

It is barely possible that one of the valves is riding or held slightly open by one of the pushrods, due to improper adjustment, or the valve may be coated with carbon or so warped it does not seat properly.

REMOVE VALVES

If the trouble is caused by too long a pushrod, this can be taken care of without regrinding, but if there is a leak due to carbon, warping or valve wear, then the valves will have to be removed and ground in.

After the valves are ground in, the pushrods will very probably have to be readjusted so the valves will be properly seated and yet not have enough room to cause unnecessary noise.

Sometimes it is wise to leave a little extra clearance on a pushrod for a time after the valves are ground in so as to permit them to work into their new seat properly, after which they may be readjusted to their regular running position.

The number of miles which a car should run without having the valves reground varies greatly, depending on oiling and other engine conditions.

Sometimes the valves become so dirty in a hundred miles or so that they have to be reground; in other cases they run 25,000 miles or more without requiring regrinding. With the average car under normal running conditions, however, it is probably wise to have the valves ground at least every 5,000 to 10,000 miles, depending on the operating condition of the engine.

MYSTERIOUS RATTLES OFTEN TRACED TO TOOLS

Mysterious rattles about the car are sometimes caused by loose tools carelessly thrown in the tool box. Keep the tools securely wrapped in a bag or kit.

Starts today and continues Thursday and Friday—the Sun-Telegraph FREE Cooking School. Be sure to attend—interesting lectures and demonstrations on cooking and home economics.

DOCTORS EXEMPT IN 8 STATES' SPEED LAWS

Eight states now exempt physicians from compliance with speed laws while answering emergency calls, according to the American Automobile Association.

The A. A. A. says that Arizona, Arkansas, California, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico and Texas are the states that have so far made provisions for exempting physicians. Six of these provide that the speed law shall not apply when emergency calls are being answered, while New Jersey and Minnesota have practically the same regulations as follows: "If a physician shall have his motor vehicle stopped for exceeding the speed limit while he is in the act of responding to an emergency call, the registration number may be inspected and noted, and the physician shall then be allowed to proceed in the vehicle to his destination, and subsequently such proceedings may be taken as would have been proper had he not been a physician or ambulance driver."

The national motoring body points out that there is a tendency throughout the country to place physicians answering emergency calls in the same class as police automobiles and fire trucks.

At the same time the A. A. A. called upon motorists throughout the country to co-operate with authorities by giving the right-of-way to all cars answering emergency calls. The statement continues:

"There are times when a few seconds may mean life or death, and it is therefore of utmost importance that car owners co-operate with those responding to an emergency call.

"Upon the approach of an ambulance or a car that is being given the right-of-way, motorists should pull aside to the curb as they are required to do when fire trucks are responding to a call."

JULY RECORD MONTH FOR PARTS

The automotive parts and accessory industry had another record month in July. Sales, which have been running ahead of the corresponding months for previous years since March, not only exceeded previous July aggregates, but rose slightly above the June levels. The Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association, reporting on the July and August business of its members, estimates that September also, on the basis of present indications, will be busier than in previous years.

While seasonably high car and truck production schedules were largely responsible for the large July volume in parts and accessories, the industry also had a busy month in service parts and accessories sold through the wholesale and retail trade, according to the association. The only division of the business to show a decided falling off in June was that in garage machinery and tools, which in recent months has not kept up to last year's rapid pace.

A large number of members of the M. & A. M. A. reporting for the monthly Business Bulletin, which has just been sent to members, had an aggregate July volume of shipments on a dollar basis 187 per cent of January, 1925, the base index used in the compilations. This compares with 185 per cent in June and 153 per cent in July last year.

Original equipment manufacturers supplying motors, bodies, parts and accessories to car and truck makers had a phenomenal business, their aggregate volume reaching an index figure of 203 as compared with 200 in June, and 148 in July last year. Service parts makers selling through the wholesale trade had a July index of 148 as compared with 150 in June and 142 in July last year. Accessory sales through the trade had a July index of 112 as compared with 110 in June and 97 in July last year. The garage machinery and tool business dropped in July to 120 from 140 in June. Last year's July index was 136.

COMPRESSION TEST

If an engine is not running well and a compression loss is suspected, the simplest way to detect it is to apply a crank and turn the engine over by hand and thus feel the compression on each individual cylinder. Some pistons will go over compression much easier than others and this means that somewhere there is a leak in this cylinder.

A leak appears far oftener in the valves than any place else. It is barely possible that one of the valves is riding or held slightly open by one of the pushrods due to improper adjustment, or the valve may be coated with carbon or so warped it does not start properly. If the trouble is caused by too long a pushrod, this can be taken care of without regrinding; but if there is a leak due to carbon, warping or valve wear, then the valves will have to be removed and ground in. After the valves are ground in the pushrods will very probably have to be readjusted so the valves will be properly seated and yet not have enough room to cause unnecessary noise. Sometimes it is wise to leave a little extra clearance on a pushrod for a time after the valves are ground in so as to permit them to work into their new seat properly, after which they may be readjusted to their regular running positions.

YOUR CAR

How To Drive & Care For It

By — Don C. Streeter

Service Manager of the Reo Motor Car Company

EVERY man who builds a house takes the precaution to have it immediately covered with fire insurance. And the wise man who drives a car uses the insurance built into that car, the four-wheel brakes that enable him to slow down at corners to watch for approaching traffic. Then he uses the acceleration built into the car to quickly regain speed.

Many a near stop at corners where vision is poor may prove to have been uncalled for. And many a year the fire insurance may be a mere matter of precaution, for no fire occurs. But both precautions are well worth taking.

The man who tries to save time by taking chances is accomplishing little and risking much, for a recent test in Pittsburgh has shown that the time saved by taking chances amounts to but a few moments as compared to the running time required to make a similar trip with sane driving.

Brakes and acceleration are the modern features that spell safety. Brakes that are kept in perfect condition and are used to prevent emergencies rather than to save in emergencies. And acceleration that snaps the car ahead of the oncoming traffic stream or quickly brings the car up to running speed after slowing down at an intersection.

But brakes and acceleration must both be used wisely, and the careful car owner will follow the practice of the motorman who tries the brakes every morning when he first takes the car out of the car barn. In similar manner, the driver of the car will occasionally try the brakes, not merely to see what the brakes are doing, but to see what their action is when streets are covered with water, sleet or mud.

If wheels start to slide on slimy pavements, it is a warning sign that the driver does well to heed. Then he will start to slow down before the street intersection is reached instead of jamming on the brakes the last minute and taking a chance on skidding.

Chassis f. o. b. Detroit

Three fast, powerful, rugged 3-Ton Trucks are now part of the famous line of Graham Brothers Trucks, built by Dodge Brothers.

Three wheelbases—135 inch chassis at $1745 for dump or trailer work; 165 inch at $1775 for standard 3-Ton service and 185 inch at $1845 for vans, lumber and bulky commodities.

Note the list of capacities in the complete line .... The right size for any job .... Bodies for any purpose .... The truck complete, ready to work.

Read the prices .... low on any basis of comparison .... lowest, if you consider the work they will do and the money they will make for you. July sales far exceeded any previous July. August sales set a new August record. Orders right now exceed factory production.

All sizes .... All with 4-wheel brakes—Lockheed hydraulic on the heavier types .... 4 speed transmissions in all but the Merchants Express .... See these trucks—money savers, money makers .... Phone us for a trial.

S.S.S. and Rheumatism Simply don't get along together

ARE you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

"After suffering several years, six bottles of S.S.S. completely relieved me of rheumatism. It also cleared up a skin eruption and gave me a good appetite. I think S.S.S. is a wonderful medicine."
R. L. Busic, Southern Railway, Knoxville, Tenn.

—purely vegetable

"I was very nervous, had hardly any appetite, and suffered with rheumatism. I tried many medicines, but S.S.S. is the one that did me the most good. I am now well, and feel like a new man."
William Osborne, 2406 Sloan Street, Flint, Michigan.

WHEN SOUR STOMACH COMES TAKE ACIDINE

Political Primer for Young People

Dame Democracy once brought her Tiger to the water tank—
Stern experience had taught her other things he sometimes drank.
"Don't you think," she said, "you oughter
"Swallow this cold water
"Plank?" But the Tiger would not do it.
Unless she'd add something to it—
So her plans went on the blink.
MORAL—
You may try through night and through day—
All you'll find is this,
That you may lead a Tiger to the water,
But you cannot make him drink.

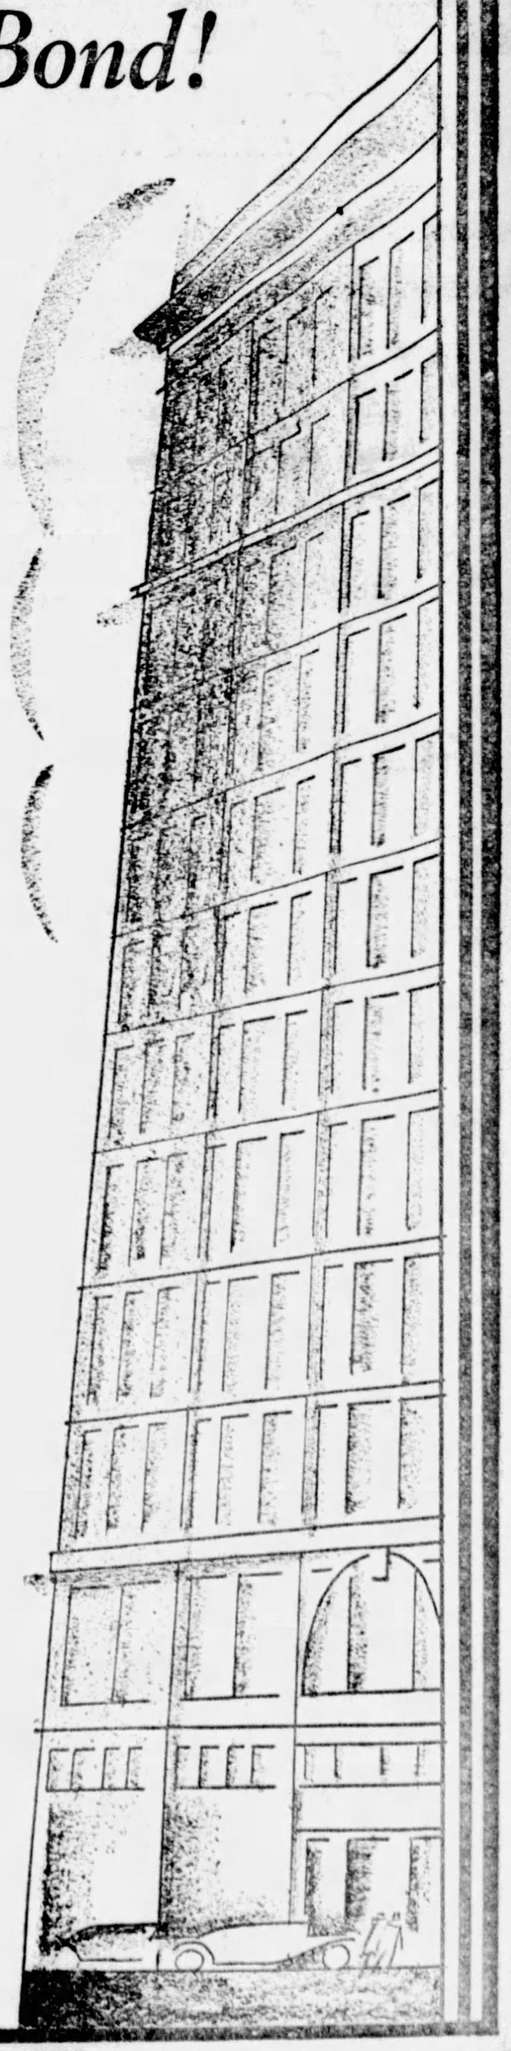
McCreery's .. Price-Right

As a Government Bond!

Some bonds are cheaper than government bonds. None are better. Government bonds are a symbol of good honest value. McCreery merchandise is offered every day in the year at prices that make it always good, honest value. Careful comparison shows that quality-for-quality, style-for-style—McCreery merchandise is always priced right.

There's pleasure in shopping at McCreery's. It is considered a nice, comfortable, friendly store. There's prestige in having McCreery's delivery trucks stop at your house—as they do day after day in front of Pittsburgh's best homes. It's fine to know that McCreery values are as honest as that of a government bond!



McCreery's

24th Anniversary

BEGINNING SATURDAY

McCreery's prices are fair and right every day in the year! But in the coming 24th Anniversary prices will be far lower than usual. We are celebrating our birthday by giving you NEW, fashion-right, dependable quality merchandise at impressively low prices.

We've asked manufacturers for large price concessions. Since this store-wide event, soon to begin, is the first one held in three years, manufacturers have co-operated splendidly. We made very large savings in our purchases. These we pass along to you in this great event. Dramatic news, tomorrow. Watch for it! Read it!

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Early Season and Interesting Events Likely Give Pittsburgh Social World Quorum by October 1

WITH the season opening earlier than it has in years, and with such intriguing things as hunt shows included in the events, I daresay we shall have a quorum, socially speaking, by the first of October. Middle October will surely see the return of the last straggler, don't you believe?

Every day one hears that so and so is back, and someone else will be here in a few days. And when most of the folks get back, there's sure to be enough entertaining going on to suit everybody.

Alice Walton Childs, daughter of the James H. Childs, of Albermarle street, will be back tomorrow, I've heard. She has been in Hyannisport, if I remember correctly, as the guest of Mrs. George W. Jackson Bissell.

Mrs. Charles D. Marshall will be back this morning and then we shall probably hear soon when she will bring out her daughter, Mary.

ELIZABETH STIEREN, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Stieren, of the Bellefield Dwellings, won't come out this year. Elizabeth, who will be a sophomore this year at Smith, will soon be leaving for Northampton. Next year she'll surely come out. She is really a little young for a debbie, anyway—not yet 18.

She and her sister, Josephine, have come back, I believe, from Europe, and particularly from Spain, where they spent most of their time.

DID you know that the men at the dance on Saturday evening, September 29, at the Rolling Rock Club will wear scarlet evening dress coats? Of course you must know that the dance, to be preceded by a buffet dinner, will follow the first Rolling Rock Hunter trials. The Rolling Rock Hunt is responsible for the event, and its members have invited members of the Westmoreland, Sewickley, Pittsburgh and Indiana Hunts to participate. The trials will be held in the Loyalhanna Valley, adjoining Rolling Rock Farms, near Ligonier, at 3 o'clock. And following the hunter trials will be an inspection and opening of the new stables.

And a picturesque spectacle the riders will make in their scarlet coats or in coats of the color favored by their particular hunt, against the autumnal background. The trials will be over a line of country about two and a half miles in length.

THE marriage of Miss Genevieve H. Arens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand C. Arens, of Beacon street, and Wilbur Glen Wunderly, son of Mrs. Clara Wunderly, of the East End, was solemnized Saturday night in the Aren's home. The bride wore white satin and lace and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Helen Chappell was maid of honor, appearing in peach chiffon and carrying butterfly roses. Norwood E. Wunderly, of Atlanta, Ga., was his brother's best man. After an eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Wunderly will be at home in Brookline.

THE marriage of Miss Elizabeth Charlotte Royce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Royce, of the South Hills, and Earl Ellsworth Cappel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Cappel, of the South Hills, was solemized Monday night at 6:30 o'clock by the Rev. M. M. McDivitt, pastor of the Knoxville Presbyterian Church. Miss Dorothy Regan, of Beechview, was maid of honor and Charles Irr, best man. A dinner in the William Penn Hotel followed the service. Mr. and Mrs. Cappel are motoring in the East and after October 1 will be at home in Margaret street. The bride is a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity of the University of Pittsburgh.

THE marriage of Miss Edith Mae Cornwell, daughter of Mrs. Mae Cornwell, of Lowrie street, North Side, and the late David G. Cornwell, of Charleston, W. Va., to Wade C. Hecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hecht, of West View, was solemnized last Wednesday at 5:45 o'clock in the Cornwell home by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Nicholas, of Grace Lutheran Church. Miss Virginia Hecht, sister of the bridegroom, played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Hecht are motoring in the South and after October 1 will be at home in McKinley avenue, Avalon.

CONGRESS OF CLUBS WOMEN TOLD TO VOTE

"VOTE." That is the word the president of the State Federation brings you today. "You neglect your children just as much when you put the wrong men in office as when you neglect any of their comforts." So said Mrs. John A. Frick, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, who was the guest of the Congress of Clubs yesterday at its harvest home meeting. The other important project before the Federation—the state-wide petition asking for ratification of the Kellogg multilateral treaty—was also spoken of by Mrs. Frick and she ended her talk with a discussion of the proposed changes in the by-laws which are to be voted upon at the Lancaster convention next month.

At both morning and afternoon sessions there was assembly singing led by Mrs. Elsie Breese Mitchell. Frank C. Harper spoke on the Metropolitan Plan and Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl on the San Antonio biennial in the morning. At luncheon Mrs. Frick was presented with a monogramed engagement folio. Miss Virginia Harmon, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Moore, sang soprano solos and Mrs. Ruth Bowers Gibson gave violin numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Blenko Martin, for the afternoon session, which was opened with an invocation by the Rev. E. J. Harry, of the Episcopal Church of the Nativity, Crafton. There was a moment of silence in memory of Mrs. George L. Gearing, the Carrick Mothers' Club president, and Mrs. D. Edwin Miller spoke of the Jeannette M. Eaton scholarship fund which the department of education has established. Mrs. A. H. Bowman announced the Cause and Cure of War Conference to be held in Carnegie Music Hall November 16 and R. Templeton Smith spoke in behalf of the Welfare Fund.

"WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD"

Verdict of Woman Who Tried Pinkham's Compound

Tully, N. Y.—"It hurt me to walk or sit down without help and I felt sick and weak. My mother-in-law took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she induced me to take it. I am now on the fourth bottle and have also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. The medicines that will do for me what the Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done are certainly worth their weight in gold. DETECTIVES DIG IN VAIN FOR BURIED DIAMOND LOOT

After county detectives had spent the morning digging in the yard of Louis Iovino, 18, of 7332 Denniston avenue, Swissvale, in search of a treasure trove of several thousand dollars worth of stolen diamonds, without result, Ioviano was brought before Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in Criminal court late yesterday and sentenced to the Morganza Reform School until he is 21.

He had confessed to 11 jewel robberies in Squirrel Hill, Edgewood and Rankin, the loot totalling over $10,000, a ladge part of which was recovered in pawn shops.

Nineteen diamonds, taken out of rings, valued at $50 to $800, have not been found. Iovino, who pleaded guilty September 4, first said he had given these diamonds to his brother-in-law, Frank Delia, a jeweler at 502 Braddock avenue, Braddock.

Delia was tried yesterday before Judge Elder W. Marshall on a charge of receiving stolen goods. Iovino changed his story on the witness stand and said he had buried the jewels. Delia was acquitted.

THE PRINCESS SHOP

Meets Youth's Demand for Velvet Dresses

$25 to $65

Youth has quite decided to step out in Transparent Velvet this season, for many good reasons. First, because Transparent Velvet is the fabric of the hour in dressy apparel. Second, because youth is cleverly aware that this softly draping fabric has its own tricky ways of bringing out every good point of figure, carriage and complexion that a girl possesses. Third, because a Transparent Velvet dress is correct for almost any informal or semi-formal afternoon affair.

The model sketched is typical of the new showing in the Princess Shop (for girls wearing sizes 15 to 17). Tightly swathed hip . . . free, youthful movement in the flared skirt . . . molded bodice . . . one stole-end draped down the back. 39.75.

THE DUCHESS SHOP

Offers New Styles of Slenderizing Dignity

16.75 to $85

Dignity is the natural attribute of the larger woman. Her gowns, properly designed, may show all the latest fashion points, may slenderize her figure and bring out the charm of her dignity. The new showing of gowns in the Duchess Shop do all these things for the larger women. It is the most successful—the handsomest and smartest collection of gowns we have ever assembled for women requiring sizes 40½ to 54½.

Sketched is a typical model. Of flattering transparent velvet (plum, harvest brown, black or independence blue); the pleated front of the skirt has scalloped hemline; the hip is snugly swathed; the surplice front is edged with beige georgette with antique gold stitchery. $85.00.

Woman Driver Killed in Crash

DIES AFTER TROLLEYS CRUSH AUTO

Mrs. Mabel Van Meter, 30, of 201 East End avenue, was fatally injured shortly after noon today when an automobile she was driving was crushed between two street cars at Forbes and Plainfield streets. She was pronounced dead at the Homeopathic Hospital.

While she was driving alone, citybound, Mrs. Van Meter's car skidded on the wet rails, throwing the machine into the pathway of an outbound Squirrel Hill trolley. An instant later a Shady avenue car, going in the opposite direction, caught the auto and it was demolished between the two trolley cars. Mrs. Van Meter was hurled under the front end of the Shady avenue car and it was necessary to raise the car with jacks to release her.

CHARGES WIFE REFUSED TO TELL WHEREABOUTS

Mrs. Gene Doner Quickel stayed out all night and then refused to tell where she had been, it was charged by her husband, Arthur C. Quickel, of 408 Taylor avenue, at a hearing yesterday in his divorce action. Quickel also contends his wife uses liquor. He said that on one occasion when he brought a friend home she told him, "Take that bum to a restaurant." Quickel charges cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities.

SNOWDEN TWP. MINER ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET

John Toth, 35, a coal miner, who lived at the Gould mine of the Bertha Consumers Company in Snowden township, shot and killed himself late yesterday, according to the coroner's report. No motive could be learned.

10 Million Asked for Schools

The spending of $1,000,000 annually for the next 10 years for improvements to the elementary school buildings here, was recommended yesterday to the Board of Education by Charles L. Wooldridge, consulting engineer who has just completed an 18 months survey of the school system.

The spending of the $10,000,000 would bring the efficiency average of the elementary schools up to 90 per cent on educational efficiency rating, according to the recommendations.

The percentage of efficiency is figured from a possible 1,000 points. If such a building program were completed Pittsburgh would have 900 points of the possible 1,000.

On this rating, the lowest-rated school now stands at 105 points, this being the Banksville school. Greenfield school is most highly rated, scoring 993 points. The average for the 149 elementary schools is 593.

An annual saving of $141,000 in operation of the school plants would be made if such a program were completed, the survey stated.

The report will be taken up by the board, acting as a special committee, at a special meeting.

TUSTIN STREET SHOPS RAIDED

Stores at 2228 and 2222 Tustin street were raided yesterday by prohibition agents, who said they found five pints of moonshine in the former place and 50 pints of homebrew in the other store. Keepers of both establishments were ordered to appear for hearings.

Joe Lauro, 45, was reported arrested on the Swartz farm in Shaler township, after three gallons of whisky and four barrels of mash were reported found in the rear of a building.

WILLS $170,000 TO NEPHEW

The $170,000 estate of Mary M. Baird, Edgewood, was bequeathed to her nephew, John Baird Johnson, her will, probated today, revealed. Minor bequests are made to relatives and the balance, which includes $150,000 personal property, is willed to Johnson for life and at his death to his children in equal shares. He is to make $50 monthly payments to his mother, and an educational fund is set up for her grandnephew, John B. Johnson. Miss Baird's sister, Sue B. Johnson, is given the decedent's jewelry. John Baird Johnson and the Union Trust Company are executors.

NOTED CHEF DEPLORES LACK OF INTEREST IN COOKING

Rene Nusele, noted chef, who recently took charge of the kitchen at the William Penn Hotel, deplored in an interview today the neglect into which the culinary art has fallen in the United States. Chambers of Commerce should interest themselves in the matter, he said; prizes should be offered for achievements in cooking as well as for distinguished feats of aviation.

"There are just as good opportunities now for the discovery of new dishes," declared Nusele, "as in the days of Brillat-Savarin, inventor of the omelet, and Vatel, who gave the world its first ice cream.

"If any American boy thinks the work of a chef is not suitable for a he-man—and it is that notion that keeps Americans from studying cooking and makes it necessary to bring in foreigners to take charge of the kitchens in our large hotels—well, let him try to manage an organization such as we have here at the William Penn, and he will soon see that it is a man's size job. Believe me, to handle a force of temperamental cooks—and if a man does not have the artistic temperament he is no cook—is no easy matter.

"Cooking is not honored here as it is in France, where the chef takes rank with the lawyer and the physician as a professional man.

"American cooking? Is there such a thing? How does it come that our restaurants are run mostly by Greeks and Chinese?

"There is need of instruction in cooking such as will be given in The Sun-Telegraph Free Cooking School. Americans are the healthiest people in the world, but their health would be still better if they paid more attention to cooking and to what they ate. Americans eat too rapidly, for one thing."

Meals should be more leisurely and everyone ought to rest for 10 minutes after eating to permit the stomach to do its work properly. The business man who says he is not hungry and so lunches hastily on a sandwich and a cup of coffee would do better to eat nothing at all, or to eat an apple or a head of lettuce and drink a glass of water."

Nusele served in an American regiment in the war and was severely wounded.

He was President Wilson's chef on the George Washington when the President went to Paris in 1918. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, he said, were easy to please. They preferred simple dishes, and never expressed dislike of anything.

Register 53,000 on 2nd Day

Another registration day, by establishing a new record, added another stone to the foundation of proof that Pittsburgh's interest in the Hoover-Smith battle far exceeds that manifested in any previous campaign.

Scattered returns received by the Board of Registration Commissioners early this morning indicated that about 53,000 men and women registered yesterday, about 14,000 more than enrolled on the second registration day four years ago when the Coolidge-Davis fight was in full swing.

The total registration this year, with one more day to go, is approximately 115,000, within 12,000 of the absolute total four years ago. On the final day, October 6, there is no doubt that the last rush will send the total far above existing records. Judging from the past, the first day is fairly high, the second day low, while the third day wins the gold cup. On that basis at least 75,000 persons will register in Pittsburgh on October 6.

LIGHT IN STRIP

The registration yesterday again proved the activity of independent political groups and the interest of individuals who ordinarily take no part in political fights. The registration in the downtown section, the Strip and the Hill—where, possibly, the politicians are too busy fighting among themselves over the receipts from various rackets to bother about the next President of the United States—was very light. This may be explained that neither the Republican or Democratic organizations here have bought any tax receipts on "orders" presented by their loyal followers.

The East End, Homewood, Point Breeze, and Squirrel Hill registration was unusually heavy. Again the registration was overwhelmingly Republican—a fact that means little, as the bulk of the Smith strength here is expected to come from enrolled Republicans. Leaders of both the Smith and Hoover forces here last night claimed the heavy registration to be in their favor.

LAUNCH STORM AID APPEAL

Appeals for gifts of clothing to be shipped to the hurricane sufferers in the West Indies and the southeastern states were made today by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Red Cross, in addition to the call for funds of $60,000 from the Pittsburgh district. This request was made while scores of volunteer workers were engaged in the headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building sending out letters asking for contributions of money.

The local Red Cross chapter took up the work while in the midst of its preparations for the annual roll call campaign which will be held in November in connection with the county-wide canvass of the welfare fund of Pittsburgh.

STREET RAISING FUND VOTED

An ordinance calling for the expenditure of about $600,000 for the raising, grading and repaving of streets in the lower North Side district was affirmed yesterday by city council.

The streets are all west of Federal street and in the so-called flood district.

The work is part of a general plan to improve that section for terminal and warehouse undertakings.

Free Four Days, Auto Thief In Again

Released from the workhouse where he had served 13 months for the thefts of automobiles, Charles E. Porter, 21, of 313 Larimer avenue, was arrested last night. Frankstown avenue police nabbed him, they say, as he was attempting to drive away in a stolen automobile.

The machine is owned by Charles Reed, 1236 Dennison avenue, and had been stolen from his home Sunday. The officers said Porter told them where he had abandoned another stolen car. Going to the spot they recovered the machine, they said.

CELEBRITIES HEAD LIST IN PORTO RICAN GIFTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The New York American touched the heart of New York by its appeal for aid for the stricken people of Porto Rico, and the response has been immediate.

Hundreds of messages have been received by the New York American's Porto Rican Relief Fund, pledging cash, food and clothing to the cause.

The New York Central Railroad Company cleared Pier 4, East River, from which the relief ship will sail on Saturday and aided the New York American in organizing the pier to receive supplies. More than $2,500 in cash and substantial amounts of food, clothing, building materials and other supplies for the island were pledged before last evening.

Max D. Steuer the noted attorney, telephoned that he was sending a check for $1,000, the largest amount of the day. Margaret T. Schulze, who is ever among the first to respond to appeals for charity made through the American, sent this laconic telegram:

"Am sending $500 to the New York American's Porto Rican relief fund."

Hope Hampton, famed star of stage and screen, who has just been engaged as prima donna of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company, telephoned that she was mailing a check for $50. George Gordon Battle, one of New York's most important attorneys and as widely known in church and charitable work, telegraphed:

"It gives me great pleasure to send you today a check for $50."

Sailing, Baruch, financier and philanthropist, stated that he was sending $100. Representative William W. Cohen pledged $200 promptly. Jed Harris, the young theatrical producer who has risen to the first rank in a year, wired the fund to look for $100 from him in tomorrow's mail. Charles H. Reis, Inc., promised the same amount.

Sir Thomas Lipton, prince among merchants and sportsmen, declared himself glad to send 500 pounds of tea and 500 pounds of coffee.

M'VICAR NAMED U. S. JUDGE

Formal notice of the appointment of Nelson McVicar, former Common Pleas Court judge, to the bench of the Federal District Court, was received today by Judge R. M. Gibson, from Assistant Attorney General John Marshall.

Judge McVicar's commission is expected to arrive in a day or two and he will be sworn in immediately. Judge McVicar fills the vacancy caused by the retirement from active service of Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson. A recess appointment, it will continue in effect pending ratification by the Senate in December.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

NUMBER THREE of a series of Men Who Don't Break into the News: He is not much more than 30 now. So he must have been a whiskerless youth during the war, 10 years ago. A young Canadian he watched the troops making ready to go across the water. So he enlisted—as an aviator. He was credited with 1,000 hours' flying in Canada before he finally got overseas. Over there he put in another 1,000 hours of flying. He had heard that a hospital established by a rich Canadian on a large estate in England was really the place to go "in case anything happened." So he strung a ticket of instructions around his neck which noted his preference as to hospitals. He climbed into his plane one day to do scout duty and after a time he heard birds humming, watched a fine electrical display, and after that—a blank. The next thing he knew he was in his favorite hospital.

But the war is over for him now and he seldom speaks of the things that happened when he was rolling up a credit of 2,000 hours in the air. He came to Pittsburgh to practice, instead of the destructive art he learned in the red years of the last decade, the art of healing. His name, Dr. George Foster. Attachment: The Carnegie Steel Company.

Ralph Smith, the assistant federal district attorney, was told by the nurse the other day: "It's a boy.." "And," said the nurse, moving the baby from here to there, "you ought to call the boy Alfred Smith." And Ralph Smith said to the nurse: "I understand perfectly what you mean."

In Oliver avenue a little tone has been put into what was once called "getting subscriptions for the magazine." A lady with some imgination styles herself: "Magazinist." Why not an "e" on the end of it?

POLICE officials in town will tell you they were not surprised to discover that the confession of a recent murder dissolved into thin air after an investigation. There are any number of criminally-minded boys and men who get a thrill out of jumping into the spotlight by professing to know all about mysteries bothering the police.

One of the most curious species the police have to deal with is what is known as the "stool pigeon." Quite often a crook himself, mingling with crooks, the "stool pigeon" informs against his comrades. He at times is motivated by a spirit of pique or revenge, but Harry Mellon tells us that not a few of the "stools" give information to the police just for the thrill of being mixed up in an arrest.

YOUNG EPPY, the newsboy fighter of some 12 or 14 years ago, reports he took a flyer in betting recently. He renounced gambling for a long time, he says, not as a moral proposition, but as a health and business proposition. But he was tempted recently and he tossed off $1,500 in a bet the other night. He says this was the first bet he made in a long, long time. Eppy can tell you about the noted gamblers from coast to coast. A few years ago Eppy was a heavy player on the ball games. On one day he placed wagers amounting to $45,000. And lost. "It's a queer thing," said the introspective Eppy, "I always remember the bets I lost and for the life of me can't remember many details about them when I used to win. Human nature, eh?" Eppy reports a good book he is reading, "Haunch, Paunch, and Jowl," is the title. It is the story of how a young gangster reformed to become a prominent judge.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.

Oklahoma, Al Smith is coming down there and I want the old home to treat him right. He has been good to lots of us back here.

Don't pull off any snipe shooting or badger fights. Don't even break his derby.

Show him the state produces something besides outlaws, bo-weevil and comedians.

Tell him what a great territory we had before we struck oil and Republicans, followed by mortgages, foreclosures, and impeachments.

Diana Pictures the Future When Benny Expresses His Love for Her

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of feminity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Diana Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party at the Yacht Club. And before leaving their parents warn them to behave like "Sheldons." Freddie calls for Ann, whose mother had just told her she must marry soon or go to work. Benny also attends the party where Diana and her friends meet him. It is a gay affair, with Diana being the life of it. Benny is fascinated by the quiet Ann, who makes believe that she does not like "wild" parties. Diana, after the party, tells her mother all about Benny. She meets him several times and falls in love with him. Mrs. Evarts is anxious that her daughter, Ann, fall in love with Benny. However, he is afraid he is falling in love with Diana. Ann tells Norman that Beatrice has a past. At North Lake where the crowd are for a week, Norman questions Bea about her past and she confesses. He then asks her to marry him. Diana saves Benny from drowning while at North Lake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

AT a fork in the road the girl hesitated, looked over her shoulder. Their friends had gone down the mountain; they were out of sight now. But she was not following, she was taking the narrow trail which led to the high loneliness known as Inspiration Point. She wished to be alone with him, then. . . . Oh, he would not hesitate. Let her take the initiative; he would not have that on his conscience.

Upon the narrow ledge which overlooked the lake and the valley beyond they dismounted, and Diana stood gazing afar, stretching her arms to the wide panorama. "Isn't it," she breathed, "wonderful! Just to be alive, Benny—isn't that a splendid thing?"

He answered huskily, "Yes," and she turned to look at him. "You want to taste all of life, don't you?" he asked. "Is that it? Tell me, Diana, is this what you wish?"

"All—every bit—" Uncertain, hurt by his sudden aloofness, she took a step toward him. His arms went around her then; the world swirled and blurred out.

They sat upon a flat boulder and even as his lips pressed her throat he remembered things—a vision of a miniature Diana upon the palm of Mrs. Sheldon, a Diana tipsy and hilarious; a grotesque figure of Diana curled about a cocktail glass while Freddie leered, "Drink her down, boys. To a good little bum—"

This mounting emotion — what did it mean? Well—let her take the initiative. Follow her lead . . . and it would have been so easy to have loved her differently; to have thought of her as the one beautiful love; to have made of their association a holy thing set apart from sordidness, from the light and easy affections the world knew.

He gave no thought, of course, to inexperience, to the heady passion of first love. He could not know that to Diana this indeed was surrender, but only to the greatest of all things as she understood it—a love which must be endured and sacred.

She was so sure of it, so joyous, that in the end she slipped out of his arms without hesitation, saying they must go. And when he caught her to him again, almost roughly, she laughed, feeling he could do no wrong. Beautiful days to come—beautiful years—how marvelous life could be!

They rode back into camp, Diana glowing, Benny silent and white. And the crowd greeted them noisily, with only Ann catching her mother's look of fury—a look she returned.

Diana went to her room, hugged Bea, kept murmuring "So happy—so happy—" while her friend helped her off with the riding boots.

"I'm in love again and my heart-strings are thrumming—
I'm in love again—"

Thus sang Diana. And Bea asked, "Is it Ben?" Seeing the flame in the gray eyes, she added fiercely: "Thank God you'll marry the first man you love—"

"Oh, Bea, darling! You see 'nobody asked me, sir, she said.'"

"But he will Di, tonight. You'll see——"

The boots were off at last and the knickers and shirt changed for a slip of a dress, when Diana said that now they must break the news. And when Beatrice cringed she laughed again, declaring that nobody could do anything to stop what already had happened.

They went to the veranda, Diana holding up her hand for silence, crying to everybody to make ready for a jolt.

"I have to announce," she began with mock pompousness, "the marriage this morning at North Lake village of Miss Beatrice Sheldon and Mr. Norman Gregory. You all may kiss the bride and shake the bridegroom's paw. Line will form at the right—walk, don't run—and watch your step, please!"

A moment of startled silence—a whoop—and the crowd fell upon the pair. In the excitement nobody saw Ann steal away to her room. And the few moments Hanna devoted to hysteria she later explained as due to nervousness.

"What dear Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon will think of me!" she moaned.

Yet she regained her poise quickly, together with a new hope. Marriage was in the air, and perhaps, even though the week had come to nothing, these last few hours held a promise. If only Ann were not so stupid and Benny Black so wary!

She left the chattering group and found her daughter. And things were said between them which were to turn like poisoned blades in the memory of mother and daughter as long as each of them should live.

CHAPTER XV.

BENJAMIN CARRINGTON BLACK added another cigaret end to the pile which already overflowed the tray at his elbow, and decided it was time to dress for the night's shindy. It was past time; he had been sitting here an hour or more, thinking long, troublesome thoughts.

Over and over he had lived again the afternoon from the moment Diana came around to his side of the sleek roan and he snatched her into his arms. The feel of her sturdy young body, the fragrance of her hair, wind-blown against his face; the vivid warmth, the joyousness of her—these had closed about him, sending his imagination aflight even while holding him as in a silken net.

He was beginning to suspect that he loved her. Many women had come into his life—and gone from it again, not willingly, but because he would not lift a finger to prevent their going. Love as he had known it had been a vagrant breeze, ruffling the surface of his being, leaving the depths untouched.

But this, he mused, might prove an undertow to drag him whither it would unless he eluded its danger.

Aimlessly he wandered into the bedroom, ran a lethargic hand over his collars, his scarfs, automatically selected one to be worn tonight. And even as he did this the satin thread forming a dim pattern through the silk brightened and drew together in the outlines of dozens of little slippers all fluttering in a merry dance, all with Mercury wings at the heels.

He swore softly, dropped the tie and slammed shut the drawer. That settled it. He would not go to the party; he would not again go anywhere Diana might be. He had had enough, and this was the end. Remain here alone this evening, and tomorrow they would return to town, and he easily could avoid this juvenile crowd.

If things had been different—if for one little moment he had felt sure of the girl! A glorious creature; one to steal into the heart and take possession of a man's whole life. But, because this was so, he must go his way apart from her way; even a flirtation would be unthinkable with the conviction he held.

He went to the big bungalow where the others awaited him. And was greeted with cries of dismay when they saw he had not dressed. Only Diana, with her new little, happy air of possession, laughed and warned him to hurry.

CATCHING THE MOTHS -:- By Fanny Darrell

© 1928 by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

HAVE you ever watched the tiny moths attracted to the candle flame, or the light of the lamp, and seen them flutter and fall when the rays scorched their gauzy wings? Poor little things! And yet they go blindly to their fate because they love the flaming glare of the rays and, heedless of the heat, fly straight to their doom.

And here Dan Cupid and one of his subjects have met a like fate, only it's a bit different to the story of the moths. They KNOW the dangers of the flame—the lovely flame who just waits and waits for the moths which Love will send for her to capture. So in one tiny hand she grabs and holds Daniel, and in the other, she tightly clasps her Destiny—for she's sure she's not going to let go of either until everything's settled. They're not afraid of this flame! No indeed! They've been seeking it, and now—well that's another story, but I know it will end "and they lived happily ever after."

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

BLESSED BE THE "HUBBY" WITH A "HOBBY"

VERILY, my Daughter, as a bright light in a dim world, so is a man that rejoiceth in a "hobby!" Lo, the vain damsel sigheth for an husband with money, and the foolish damsel sigheth for an Adonis with "IT."

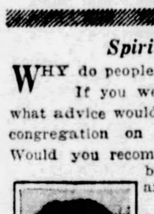
But the wise virgin saith, "Give me a man with a HOBBY!"

* * *

For, peradventure, much money may lead a man into temptation, and much beauty goeth to his head and weakeneth his backbone. But a little hobby keepeth him safe and happy and out of mischief!



HELEN ROWLAND

Go to. Whether it be golf or solitaire or a radio or a camera or a garden; whether it be collecting loving cups or postage stamps or art treasures or fishing bait; whether it be painting pictures or taking the motor car to pieces, rejoice and be glad if thine husband delighteth in his hobby.

Yea, so long as it be not blonde affinities or brass saxophones or all-night poker games, be of good cheer and scorn not thy beloved's pet pastime.

For a man WITHOUT a hobby is as a menagerie around the house; but a man with an innocent avocation is as QUIET as a small boy with a bottle of ink or a babe with a sheet of fly-paper.

Behold, he findeth a secret corner and remaineth therein. He doth NOT wander aimlessly around the premises, like unto a lost soul. He seeketh not to find flaws in the housekeeping nor cobwebs in the corners. He roareth not for food at strange hours, and snitcheth not tid-bits from the icebox.

* * *

The heart of his wife is full of contentment. For she knoweth that her husband is NOT hugging and kissing his hobby!

Wherefore, then, shall a foolish woman be jealous of her husband's hobby, or weep if, in times of fire and disaster, he saveth first his golf cups and goeth back afterward for his wife?

* * *

Wherefore shall she complain that he squandereth his moneys on his tobby? For he that spendeth his moneys upon horses and bootleggers and gold-diggers reapeth only a headache and a guilty conscience and a bad digestion.

* * *

But the money that a man throweth away upon a Harmless Hobby is the Price of PEACE!

* * *

For, verily, verily, if a man hath a job that keepeth him busy all DAY, and a hobby that keepeth him amused all EVENING, his wife is blessed among women—and her middle name is "Lucky!"

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Philip Veritzen Reveals His Secret to Madge

AT my disclosure of the danger which I feared was threatening Princess Olina of Transvania, Philip Veritzen sprang to his feet.

"But this is terrible!" he said. "To think that I have been kept in ignorance of danger near her! I will go to her at once!"

There was such emotion in his voice, his face was so drawn by fear, that I wondered if the supposedly romance-proof great man had been caught by the spell of Olina's beauty and charm, and the glamor of her place in the royal family of Transvania. I could think of no other explanation of his great concern, and to my disgust, I found my vanity wincing at the conjecture.

I had no time for introspection, however. He already had started for the door, and I just had time to call him back before he reached it.

"Oh, but you mustn't do that!" I said. "She will think I have betrayed her confidence. Besides she is sure that Fedor is all the protection she needs. But I have arranged with Mrs. Ticer to keep the lights all burning at night, and Mrs. Underwood and I thought perhaps you could think of some plan to guard the house at night without her knowing anything about it. She has promised to tell me what is terrifying her before very long, and then we can form other plans."

He came slowly back to his chair, sank into it as if he suddenly were at the end of his strength.

"You are right," he said, "and you need trouble your head no more about The Larches being guarded. Tomorrow I shall have down some trusted men who will take turns watching it at night. And tonight, Otto will drive Noel and me down there and we shall take turns in patrolling the grounds. The limousine will make a very comfortable resting place between watches."

His voice and manner were those of a man who sees his dearest possession threatened. I sat silent, sensing that for the moment he wished no sound to disturb him. It was but a few seconds, however, before he sat erect once more, and I saw that he had pulled himself together.

"What do you think of my plan?" he asked with the charming note of deference to my opinion which generally invests any question he puts to me.

"It appears faultless," I returned feeling oddly that it was a distinct effort to reply to him at all.

He shot a keen glance at me, then settled back in his chair as if he meant to stay in it for some time.

"No doubt my intense anxiety concerning the princess must appear rather fantastic to you," he said, and as he waited for my reply I was conscious that he was watching me keenly.

"I haven't had time to give it any thought," I prevaricated, forcing a smile to my lips. "I have been too anxious myself about her."

"That is like you," he said fervently, "and I am grateful."

He spoke exactly as might a relative or a betrothed lover, and I was not adroit enough to conceal the surprise in my face from eyes as keen as his.

"Do you remember," he said abruptly, "that not long ago I told you that sometime I should ask you to listen to a story of my youth?"

"Indeed, I remember," I told him, glad of the opporunity to say anything that might divert his attention from my telltale face. "I have wondered many times when I should have the chance to hear it."

"You shall hear it now," he said. "It will explain why I wish the Princess Olina so carefull guarded not only from danger but from any adverse comment which might be made concerning her. It will explain why I have deceived her about giving her a chance upon the stage, why I would not permit your husband to make those sketches of her, and why I am determined that she shall marry Noel, and perhaps—stranger things have happened—eventually share the throne of Transvania with him."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, September 20

A DAY of radical and conflicting occurrences is forecast from the contradictory positions of most powerful planets. Although great and unusual advantages are prognosticated from the trine aspect of Luna to Uranus, the orb of the sudden and unorthodox, the conjunction of Saturn and the Moon may be expected to wield a retarding and obstructing force. There may be postponements and obstacles, but with patience and persistence splendid benefits may mature.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which there may be some contradictory situations, with stubborn obstacles to overcome or postponements, but attended by excellent opportunities of an entirely unforeseen nature and which may involve radical change or travel.

A child born on this day may have many brilliant talents and at the same time be industrious and practical.

For the Lovelorn

Very Unhappy

DEAR MISS GALE:

I think you give such wonderful advice that I am anxious to receive some myself. I am 25 years old and good looking. I was 18 when I married and I haven't been happy since, all on account of my mother. She coaxed me to it. I have two boys and a nice home, but I am not happy. I do not love my husband. Often times if it were not for my boys I would rather die than live and not be happy. I have seen so many wonderful men that I could learn to love dearly. I am so lonely. I have many friends, but he does not approve of them and he is very jealous. He does not allow me to go out and have a good time. He won't take me, so I am always out alone. I love to dance and I often go with friends, but that does not suit him. Now Miss Gale, please what would you do? I'll never give my boys up, but I have suffered so much for their sakes. One is 6 years and the other is 4 years old. Wishing you loads of luck, I am, VERY UNHAPPY.

Brat, my dear, what is there for you to do but try to adjust yourself to the situation? You have your children to think of, you know, and your husband has apparently done nothing very wrong. You realize now that you should never have let anyone influence you into marrying a man you do not love, but try to work it out with him. Tell him how unhappy you are and I'm sure he will try to remedy matters.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator From New York

Spiritual Welfare Rests on Physical

WHY do people get cross?

If you were a preacher what advice would you give your congregation on this subject? Would you recommend anything besides prayer and Bible study?

DR. COPELAND

It is my feeling, sometimes, that all of us preachers are apt to forget the place of the human body in the scheme of salvation. "The body is the temple of the soul," we are told. Just what does this mean?

You wouldn't think much of a farmer who let his barn roof get leaky. The rain comes through and rots the hay. This essential feed for the horses gets musty or sour. It loses its value as food.

What would you say about a jeweler who left a big hole in his show window? Through it he would lose his stock of valuables.

A diseased and broken body will result in damage to the soul residing in it. By God's grace the dwarfed and undeveloped spirit of the man may rise on wings of usefulness and give service in spite of the handicap of a body's neglect. But who can doubt that had the temple of the body been kept in perfect order the soul and spirit dwelling therein would have come in richer fruition?

This may sound like "highbrow" stuff, but I believe it just the same. I think preachers should tell their congregations that God does not smile on wilful neglect of the body. In my opinion, the time will surely come when men and women will be ashamed to admit that they are ill. Too many sicknesses are the absolute fault of the victims. Why should we neglect to preach this fact?

You see I do not seek to avoid my own responsibility. Let no preacher get mad at me because I am talking this way. I, too, am a preacher. Everybody is, whether his audience occupies the pews or reads the papers, sits in the school seats or listens to the radio. Everybody who preaches to an audience through any medium is a preacher and he is not true to his trust unless he urges right living, right eating, right thinking.

The truth shall set men free and only by knowing and practicing the right can we expect to go far in this world or the world to come. First of such truths is the necessity for a whole and perfectly functioning body. When we have that we are not likely to be cross, evil-minded or given to wickedness.

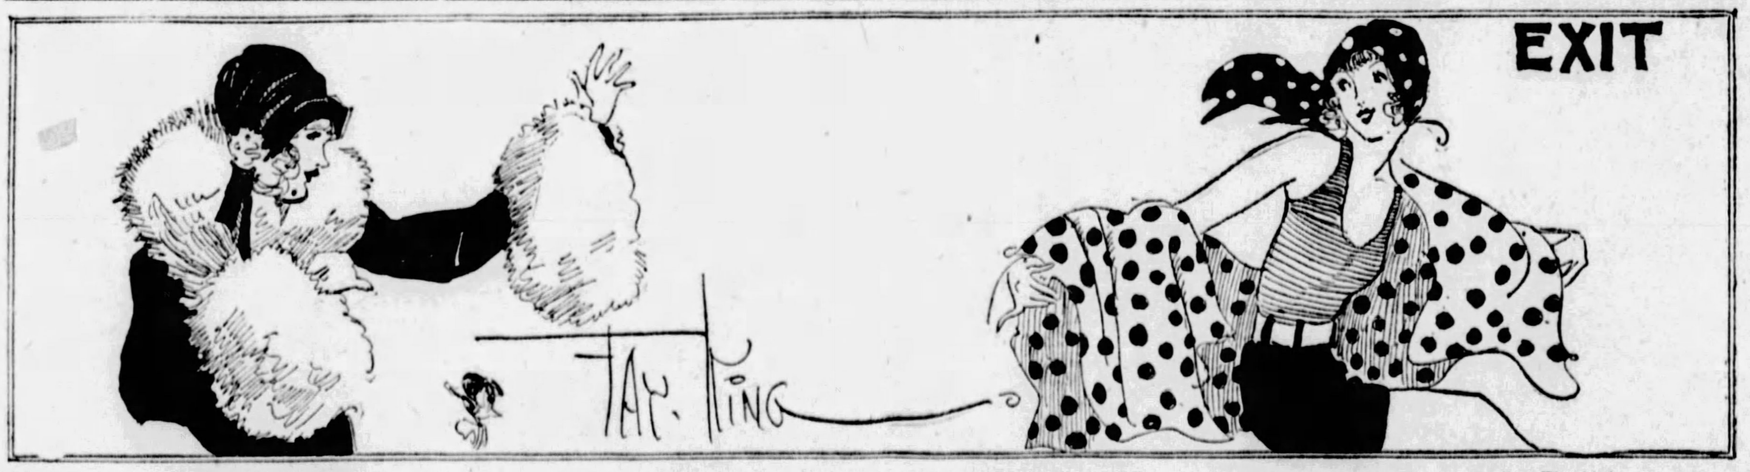
Fay King Marks the Turn of Season by Translating Tang into Action



By FAY KING

WITH the first nip of Fall in the September air, we begin to be snug-minded!

Our tastes turn toward cozy fires, hot chocolate and furs.

The Summer Girl bids us bye-bye until next season.

The window dressers begin putting in woolly blankets and eider-down comforts.

The electric fans seem suddenly to have turned into electric heaters.

One shivers to think of stockingless legs, and turns from flimsy flowered chiffons to flowered flannels.

The trees are beginning to moult. The birds are readying to fly South.

We walk more briskly to our office and leave it more reluctantly!

It is hard to leave the sunshine and lazy lure of the Summer.

We like work best in Winter!

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Terry Big Factor in Keeping Giants in National League Race—Yankees Get Unexpected Help From Lowly Indians. Mielziner Hopes to Play in Mid-Season But Coaches Take No Chances.

BILL TERRY'S big bat yesterday kept the Pirates from helping the Cardinals to add another game to their pennant lead over the Giants. Had the Bucs won the final event of their New York series instead of losing it through Terry's home run in the tenth inning, the Cards today would have the commanding lead of three full games and the Giants would be holding second place by a margin of only half a game over the Cubs.

Bill Terry

TERRY lived up to his timely-hitting reputation of recent weeks in beating the Pirates single-handed in the extra round. During the first part of the season he was not overly successful at bat when there were men on the bases, but in the only game won by the Giants here on their last visit it was his three-base hit with the score tied that brought victory to his team, and since then he has been one of the timeliest hitters in either of the major circuits.

Since September 1, when the Giants broke a losing streak of eight straight games, which was thought to have eliminated them from the flag chase, the New York club has won 18 out of 25 games, and Terry's opportune clouting has been one of the principal factors in the upward drive.

EVERY time Terry crashes a home run against the Bucs, there is recalled to local fans what was probably the longest and hardest hit ever made in Pittsburgh.

In the fifth inning of a game played at Forbes Field on June 13, 1925, Terry caught hold of one of Lee Meadows' pitches and drove the ball with terrific force far over the fence in deep right-center beyond the end of the grandstand extension.

The ball was hit harder and farther than either of the two clouted over the right-field wall by Babe Ruth in exhibition games here in 1920 and 1923 against Jimmy Zinn and George Boehler, respectively.

Saul Mielziner

CLEVELAND bobbed up as an unexpected factor in the American League race yesterday, when the Indians, after 12 straight defeats, turned like the traditional worm and upset the Athletics. As a result, the Yanks' victory in the eird game at St. Louis put New York two full games to the good, the same margin as the Cardinals hold in the National. If the Hugmen win only six of their remaining 11 games, the A's will have to win eight out of 11 to tie them or nine out of 11 to beat them out. New York has what looks like the easier schedule, too—three games with Chicago, three with Cleveland and five with Detroit,

12 RULES FOR SUCCESS
by GENE TUNNEY
RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

NO. 2—CLEAN SPEECH.

IT is a popular misunderstanding that in the world of sport words are used loosely and profanity is the password to success. The boxing game calls for a man at his best physically, mentally and morally. Profanity is always an evidence of impoverished English and gives clear proof that there is no vital contact between the brain and the tongue. No high-grade boxer ever would think of throwing his punches wild, for it would give his opponent the very opportunity he was looking for. Loose speech always is indicative of a disorganized mentality and a rattling brain always is easily disturbed in the squared circle, amid the noise of an enthusiastic crowd.

Consequently, in my boxing I have always been careful of the use of my hands, endeavoring to make every punch count, with victory rather than punishment in view. The same principle is involved in the use of words. Whatever the boxing game has meant to others, it has been my determination never to slip down to the seeming or prevailing standards of the profession, but to maintain my own standards and if possible bring my work up instead of letting myself down to a popular conception of a boxer.

FARRELL WINS IN METRO PLAY

MEHLHORN BARNES PUT OUT

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Disposing of their first two opponents after strenuous struggles, Johnny Farrell, national open champion and Gene Sarazen, who held that title in 1922, advanced to the third round of match play in the Metropolitan Professional Golfers' Association championship at the Quaker Ridge Country Club yesterday.

Farrell defeated Jim Barnes, national open champion, in 1921, in the first round, 2 to 1, and then with the aid of some putting magic, cut down Wild Bill Mehlhorn of Fenimore, in the second, 3 and 2.

Sarazen had just as much trouble getting to the third round, beating Tom Kerrigan of Siwanoy, 2 and 1, and Mike Turnesa, of Elmsford, by the same margin in the second round. Another of the Turnesa brothers, Phil Turnesa, also passed out of the picture in the second round when he bowed to Tom Creavy of Bonnie Briar, 2 and 1.

JOE STAYS IN

The third member of the family, Joe Turnesa, remained in the running when he defeated Willie Klein of Wheatly Hills, 3 and 2, in a second round match. Klein, incidentally, had beaten the wee Scot, Bobby Cruickshank, in the first round, 2 up.

Leo Diegel, who won the qualifying medal, went out in short order, bowing to Charles Mayo, of Pomonok, 2 and 1, in the first round. Mayo then went on to beat Dan Canausa, of Oak Ridge, 5 and 4, and join Farrell, Sarazen and others in the third round. With him went Henry Cuicci of Mill River.

TEAM TITLE AT STAKE

By VERNON A. SWARTFAGER.

The final round of the first annual Western Pennsylvania Golf Association club team championship will be played at the Pittsburgh Field Club today when the eight-men teams of Allegheny, Shannopin, Highland and Oakmont battle in morning and afternoon rounds.

Favorites generally won in the Women's Schenley Park Golf Club tournament in progress over the Schenley municipal links. In the semi-final round this morning, Miss Jessie Gould, medalist, having won a playoff yesterday, is battling Mrs. H. B. Evans, and Mrs. George Curry is playing Mrs. J. R. Blair.

RETURNS AS LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT

Following his failure to make the grade as a heavyweight contender, Jack Delaney returns to fistic action as a light-heavyweight against Nando Tassi, the Italian, in a 15-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn tomorrow night. The scrap originally was scheduled for tonight, but was postponed on account of rain. Photo shows Jack working out in a New York gymnasium for the battle.

ALL MAJOR LEAGUE CONTESTS OFF

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—Rain which was general throughout the East resulted in the postponement of all games scheduled in the National League today.

The opening game of the Pirates-Phils series, scheduled for this afternoon, was postponed shortly before noon when a heavy downpour, which had drenched the Quaker City throughout the morning, showed no signs of letting up. The Cubs' single game with the Giants was rained out in New York, and at Boston the Braves and Reds had two games washed off the afternoon's slate.

The Corsairs and Phils are to play off the postponed duel as a part of a doubleheader on Saturday.

ALL GAMES OFF

In view of the fact that the Cardinals and Dodgers in the National League, and all clubs in the American League, were scheduled for nothing more than idleness, the nation is without major league ball for the day.

The day of rest is not particularly welcome to the Pirates, for the Freebooters were anxious to get revenge on somebody for the 3-to-2 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Giants in a 10-inning fight at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Corsairs feel that they should have won by 1 to 0 in nine innings and regret that fielding errors gave the McGrawmen two runs and deprived Burleigh Grimes of his twenty-fifth slab victory.

Grimes was hooked up with Fred Fitzsimmons in a fine mound duel. The Corsairs were the first to score, in the second inning, when Comorosky singled, stole second, advanced to third on Wright's infield out and tallied on Hargreaves' sacrifice fly.

GETS POOR SUPPORT

Grimes' supporting cast wavered in the fifth. Welsh opened with a weak bounder over first which Grantham permitted to get past him for a triple. O'Doul's fly to Lloyd Waner scored Welsh and tied the count. In the sixth Comorosky made a mess out of Jackson's drive to center and it went for a double. He later scored on Hogan's single to give the Giants a one-run lead.

The Bucs tied the count in the ninth. Brickell, batting for Hargreaves, got a single, and Adams brought the needed tally home with a single to center.

Bill Terry solved one of Joe Dawson's offerings for a homer in the tenth and the Giants grabbed the decision. Dawson was charged with the defeat.

CHILLY SAUCE
By CHILLY DOYLE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—The Giants are traveling at a terrific clip, but they have nothing but tough games ahead if the Cubs, Cardinals and Reds live up to their lithographs.

The Redbirds hustled to New York last night after making a clean sweep of their five games with the lowly Phillies, in view of the pace of the men of McGraw, it was a good thing for Skipper Bill and his athletes that they did not falter while engaged in hostilities with the Quakers.

The Cardinals, doubtless, will be interested spectators at the Polo Grounds while the Cubs and Giants clash in a single contest. The Bears will have the moral support of the whole St. Louis delegation who are apt to break out in cheers every time one of McCarthy's boys does something of a striking nature. Tomorrow the Cards will don their battle togs to go forth on the same lot for two meetings with the runnersup.

The present season of baseball has brought artistic successes all along the line. The Major League fights naturally hold the attention of the fans throughout the nation, yet various sections are cheering Minor League flag chasers. The International and the American Association cities are enjoying exceptional competition and the Eastern League, just closed, showed seven teams over the .500 mark when the curtain went down.

Burleigh Grimes and Larry Benton are finding the road to their twenty-fifth victory strewn with hazards. Benton pitched a two-hit game against the Pirates in an effort to record a triumph that would have reached the coveted total, but he was forced to take defeat. Grimes pitched shutout ball in the finale at the Polo Grounds, but he suffered through the breaks of the sport.

Grimes great year is dotted with masterpieces but few of his games were better than his performance of yesterday. The day was a bit dark and cool, the atmosphere being ideal for the spitball as it was conducive to a better break on the saliva slant.

Lloyd Waner has been ailing for weeks, but has said little. He was treated by a Pittsburgh specialist before leaving on the present trip, his ailment being a torn ligament in his side. Sprout thinks his trouble has slowed him down a step or two.

The Pirates and Giants split even in the season play, each team winning 11 games.

My aim has been to be as careful in my use of language as in the disposition of my physical powers and I have not permitted myself to indulge in profanity of any kind, even in the most excited moments of the ring.

A man to be a success in any avenue of life must, first of all, keep on good terms with himself. This is an impossibility if a man permits his language to run wild.

At a banquet given to Mr. George L. (Tex) Rickard, a clergyman said to me: "Mr. Tunney, the athletic world is indebted to you for creating a higher tone in boxing circles." Of course, it was a generous statement and deeply appreciated. If I have been able to create the atmosphere referred to by the reverend gentleman it is more gratifying to me than winning the championship of the world.

If I have any advice to give to young Americans it is this: Maintain the highest standards of speech. Words are vehicles of thoughts and if your words sound as if they came from the garbage wagon it is a poor commentary on your thinking power.

PITT CUBS UNABLE TO STOP VARSITY

PITT'S Puzzling Panthers, puzzling because they have fans of the tri-state district guessing, went through the snappiest scrimmage of the year yesterday afternoon, and deflated the confidence of a fighting freshman team that in previous brushes with the varsity has given the veterans stiff opposition.

In 10 plays, and not many more seconds, the first string backs, Charley Edwards, Pug Parkinson, Josh Williams and Toby Uansa, had carried the ball the length of the field for a touchdown, Uansa sprinting across the goal line after shaking his flying heels at the entire frosh secondary defense.

Drs. Zonar Wissinger and Skipper Gougler, the freshmen coaches, called time out and looked over a flock of 40 new yearling candidates for bulwarks to block the Panther parade. Substitutes were sent in, the scrimmage started anew, and in six more plays the varsity had another touchdown, a 50-yard sprint by Uansa after taking Edwards' pass, turning the trick.

Pitt will have two workouts today, and then, beginning tomorrow, will hold one practice daily for the remainder of the season. New plays will be smoothed out this afternoon.

DUQUESNE

Yesterday afternoon Duquesne students got their first chance of seeing the team which will bear their colors this fall going through scrimmage. Although five of the university's schools opened Monday, a secret practice carded for that day stopped the students from seeing the men before yesterday. Some 300 watched the workout, altogether, from 3:30 till 6. After the inevitable calisthenics, which were unusually severe, a smart signal drill was run through.

Layden was not showing his bag of tricks. Plays were constantly being called back and done over again. Before each play the two coaches went into a huddle with the team on the offensive. In this way Layden, often referred to as one of Notre Dame's brainiest backs, hopes to transmit some of his cleverness to his quarterbacks.

CARNEGIE TECH

A session of scrimmage is on the program this afternoon for Carnegie Tech's varsity squad. Two teams are scheduled to battle the Plebes, coached by Al Irwin.

J. B. Helmbold, of Oliver High, a guard who impressed the coaches favorably is on the injured list. He suffered a shoulder injury which is likely to keep him on the shelf for several weeks.

Indications now point to Don Lovewell, a veteran, getting the call at one of the guard positions. Lovewell is well built and should fill the job.

WASH-JEFF

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 19.—Jap Douds, whose sterling play at tackle last season as a sophomore caused him to be rated as one of the foremost linemen of the nation, participated in his first scrimmage of the year in the preliminary training season at Washington and Jefferson College yesterday afternoon and stood up under the strain in fine style. He has apparently recovered from the effects of the Fourth of July accident in which he had a narrow escape from death when struck squarely in the face by a high-powered skyrocket. Much of W. & J.'s success depends upon the play of Douds.

PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 19.—Today, the first of studies at Penn State this fall, will be prolonged this evening for football players when the Lion squad concludes its daily workout under the glare of floodlights on the New Beaver practice field. Practice necessarily beginning after the last class of the day is over at 5 o'clock, almost an hour of work will be carried on with the aid of floodlights.

Capt. Joop Greenshields, who has been in the local hospital for about 10 days, was released yesterday. He will be unable to get into uniform for some time, however.

Hugo Bezdek, Jr., son of the Penn State director of athletics, registered at the college today as a freshman.

BETHANY

BETHANY, W. VA., Sept. 19.—Bethany's gridiron prospects were somewhat darkened when Captain Dale Piers was injured in the second scrimmage of the year. Piers was running the left end when he was tackled and clipped simultaneously, thus wrenching his left knee.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS
by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY, with the much-criticized Coach Wilce serving his last season in the saddle, began practice, along with the other Big Ten football squads, last Saturday and with a rule in effect which limits the onlookers at the daily practice sessions to one accredited representative of each Columbus newspaper and an understanding that for a period of from two to three weeks during the season not even this courtesy will be permitted the hometown newspapers. Which strikes this scribe as rather shabby and uncomplimentary treatment of the mediums for the dissemination of publicity and other blah that fills up the stadium for the all-important Buckeye athletic authorities and makes it possible for them to drag down fine salaries for their jobs.

Talk about your over-emphasis in college football, here is a fragrant instance if ever there was one. What would be more fitting than that the newspapers should treat the university accordingly and limit their notices on the football doings to a brief paragraph or two daily? One can imagine the Pittsburgh district colleges trying to dictate what should and should not be printed in the local newspapers in the way of news about their football doings so as to have the public believe only what they wished it to believe. When the time comes that football coaches in general must be so coddled it will be time also to nail up the gates of the stadia and let the students concentrate on the main and original purpose of a college career—study.

NOW seems to be as good a time as any other to clear up a misconception on the part of many spectators at football games who do not seem to understand the strategy of the sport to the extent that they severely criticize players for apparently being unable to gain consistently when carrying the ball. Dr. Bremen, a former Peabody High School and Pitt back, who now is a leading dentist downtown, brought up the subject in the course of a fanning bee the other day.

"Few except those who have been through the mill appear to realize that there are such things as purposely wasted plays which are not expected to gain ground," Dr. Bremen said. "They are feints to deceive the enemy and can afford to be wasted, just as a baseball pitcher in a pinch or when he expects a baserunner to attempt to steal a base can afford to waste a pitch now and then. For instance, Pop Warner, when he was at Pitt, frequently caught the opposition napping by working his double pass once or twice and then, when the defense thought it had the play doped out, making a triple pass out of it on the next play, culminating in a forward pass or with the man carrying the ball hotfooting it in the opposite direction from that in which the enemy had been deployed expecting a repetition of the former play. The secret of the success of the triple pass lay in wasting those other plays to set the stage for it, and it generally was good for long gains. So it is a mistake to hold a back accountable for a gain every time he lugs the pigskin. There are times when he isn't expected to gain."

CLIPPINGS from Omaha newspapers claim the referee didn't do right by their Edwin (Bearcat) Wright in the Negro's recent battle with Johnny Risko out there. Risko got the decision, but the scribes contend Wright won the fight. It seems he did and he didn't, if you get the point. . . . Bo McMillin, former Centre College football star and more recently coach of Geneva College at Beaver Falls, is in tough company this fall. Tough, I mean, in the sense of opposition. He is coaching the Kansas Aggies, who are members of the new Big Six. The other five are Nebraska (wow!), Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Iowa State. All of these institutions quit the Missouri Valley Conference last year. . . . Bobby Jones has won four national amateur, two national open and two British open championships and has been the runnerup in one other national amateur championship tournament and tied for one other national open title since he won his first major honors five years ago. His best year was 1926, when he won the United States and British open titles and was beaten in the final round of the United States amateur. Last year he retained his British open crown and traded the national open for the national amateur laurels, which he successfully defended last week. He ought to be quite a golfer when he grows up.

TRACK meets, like death, taxes and the Jaworski case, still are with us. The Pennsylvania Railroad does not get its system finals out of the way until next Saturday at Altoona. One thing about the Pennsy, though, it usually is faster than that.

LONG'S SPORT COMMENT

against Philadelphia's four with Detroit, three with St. Louis and four with Chicago.

SAUL MIELZINER, Carnegie Tech center, who is recovering from an operation for appendicitis, performed last Saturday, was in a cheerful and optimistic mood when several Carnegie and Pitt officials and players visited him yesterday.

The Cleveland boy says he hopes to leave the hospital in four or five days and declares that he will be back in the game by mid-season. The Tartan coaches are taking nothing for granted in that direction, however, and are shaping their line in a manner that will leave them well fortified in the event that Mielziner is not able to play.

FRIENDS of Henri Cochet, the French lawn tennis wizard, who won the United States amateur championship at Forest Hills Monday, says he was misunderstood by the gallery, which was openly hostile to him in the tournament up to last Friday.

Henri Cochet

In France, according to George Currie, Cochet is the real friend of the younger players; that he remembers, in his meetings with them, the disappointments and heartaches of his teens when he suffered bad beatings ,and that unless he is maneuvered into a position where he finds it absolutely necessary to bear down, he never puts on full pressure against inexperienced boys who are nervous and victims of "stage-fright" before a crowd.

ACCORDING to these friends, Cochet was showing this gallant and generous trait last week, and that if he had desired to play at top speed he could have swept aside Junior Coen, Fritz Mercur, Gregory Mangin and Frank Shields by overwhelming scores.

But the gallery jumped at the conclusion that Henri was in a hole and was acting up because he was a bad loser, the result being that he was treated coldly. Some of the spectators showed their pleasure at his errors against Mangin by applauding, and during the Mercur match a straw hat and a cushion were thrown into the court.

COCHET was very much hurt by the demonstrations of disfavor, but he came into his own on Saturday, when he was given a hand for the sportsmanship he showed in refusing to accept a game point handed to him on about the first break he got from the linemen during the tourney.

American tennis followers now hold a lofty opinion of him personally, and are lavish in their praises of his playing ability. At that, they do not realize what a marvel he is, according to Frank Shields, one of the opponents whom the Frenchman defeated.

"THOSE who sit around the court don't know half of what that Cochet is on the other side of the net," remarked Shields. He seems always to know what's coming at him before you get it off.

"And just try to guess where he's going to return the ball. He's got eyes in the back of his head. How are you going to beat a guy like that?"

SWEDEN STARTS WORK FOR 1932 OLYMPICS

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—The Swedish Amateur Athletic Association has already begun to lay plans for Sweden's participation in the next Olympic games, which will be held in Los Angeles, in 1932. Collection of a fund to defray the expenses for the Swedish sportsmen on the long trip to the United States is now under way.

who defeated Elmer Voight, 7 and 6, and Jack O'Connor, Fern Cliffs, 2 and 1.

Cyril Walker, holder of the national open championship in 1924, failed to get past the first round, losing to Alex Watson, of Mount Kisco, 1 up.

Watson also won his second round match handily, defeating Tommy Harmon of Hudson River, 5 and 4. The fourth quarter finalist, Craig Wood of Forest Hills, entered the last eight by defeating Billy Burke, of Blind Brook, 2 and 1, and August Nordone, 3 and 2.

MITCHELL ADVANCES

STOKE POGES, ENGLAND, Sept. 19.—Some of the best-known British professional golfers failed to survive first-round play yesterday in the "News of the World" tournament for prizes aggregating £1,040 or about $5,200.

George Duncan, Harry Vardon and Arthur Havers, were among those beaten. Abe Mitchell, favored to win, had little trouble disposing of C. Kennett, New Market, 7 and 6.

M'CHESNEYTOWN OPEN

The McChesneytown football team is looking for a home game on Saturday with one of the leading clubs of the tri-state district. Manager Kennedy has his gridiron machine in real form and is priming it for the district championship. Any local club wishing to make the trip Saturday should call Latrobe 592-J.

Reduce Where You Want to Reduce

Discovery of infiltrating oxygen reducing cream—quickly and safely banishes double chins, and slenderizes big hips, fat waists, legs and arms

No Medicines
No Starvation Diet—
No Dangerous Exercise

"That Double Chin Makes Her Look Ten Years Older!"

ANY woman or man who wants to take off fat on any part of the body can now do so quickly and safely. There is no question about this. It is a proved fact.

The discovery of oxygen reducing cream was purely accidental. A great New York doctor asked three of the ablest Colloidal Chemists in New York to try to find a remedy for chronic skin troubles. (Colloidal chemistry is one of the latest developments in chemical science.) These Colloidal Chemists prepared an infiltrating cream which would liberate oxygen when absorbed through the skin. They discovered that whenever the part to be treated was fat, this excess weight quickly disappeared. Reducing tests were then made on fat people with amazing results. One woman reduced her neck one inch in a few treatments; another two inches. Still another took off twenty-nine pounds in six weeks. Equally successful results were had in reducing fat waists, arms, legs, and big hips. So safe is Viaderma, as it is called, that it has the approval of chemists and physicians who oppose all other methods of quick fat reduction.

Viaderma is a golden brown cream, which is rubbed rapidly on the skin. You see the cream disappear at once, leaving a clean white foam on the skin surface. The penetrating cream carries oxygen to the fatty tissues and in a few days' time, this oxygen gradually melts away the excess fat. You get definite results from a single jar which contains an 18 days' supply.

DRIVE

THAT was the thing that stood out about Heyland; the way he worked, the way he played—with his untiring, irresistible drive . . .

Yet with Heyland ceaseless vigilance was the price of success. He realized that poisons clogging the intestines ruined dispositions and undermined health. And he had kept his body clean, his mind clear . . . without once resorting to ordinary laxatives; to slow acting health foods or cathartics that wracked the system...

Feen-a-mint is different!

It's just like a bit of delicious mint-flavored chewing gum. You don't swallow it hastily, like other laxatives—you chew it!

The chewing releases Feen-a-mint's wonderful cleansing principle so gradually, so naturally that it acts with unbelievable gentleness—yet sweeps out the clogging poisons from your whole system. In 3 to 4 hours (or by morning, if you take it at bedtime) it freshens you from top to toe! It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't disturb digestion or enslave you to laxative pills. Get Feen-a-mint at your druggist's today.

BAKER SCORES K. O.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Gene Baker, Johnstown, Pa., last night knocked out Jack Lawrence, of Newark, in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout with a right to the jaw.

Local Star To Compete

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Although Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian star, who holds the professional championship of Europe and Vincent Richards, former Davis Cup player and leading American professional, are the headliners in the professional lawn tennis championship which is to be held in the stadium at Forest Hills, September 26, there will be several other players of importance who will help furnish interest.

Besides Kozeluh, who conquered Richards in two matches on the other side of the ocean, Europe is sending three other stars, Valerian Yarvorsky, Russian star of the prewar years, Vladamir Terentieff and Thomas Iannicelli.

After Richards on the list of American players come Howard Kinsey and Harvey Snodgrass, of California, both former stars in the amateur ranks, Alan Behr, New York veteran, and George Agutter, of the West Side Club, who was runner-up to Richards in last year's event. Another Californian, Matt Harris, Paul Heston, of Washington; Louis Volpe, of Boston; Julius Boise, of Pittsburgh, and Edward Faulkner, of Ocean City, N. J., complete the list of entrants from outside the metropolitan district.

INJURY NOT SERIOUS

LEWISBURG, PA., Sept. 19.—Bucknell University's football prospects were considerably brightened yesterday when Coach Carl Snavely received word from the college medico that the injury which Justin Brumbaugh, hard-hitting backfield man from Pittsburgh, sustained in practice several days ago, is not a fracture of the ankle, but only a sprain. It was announced that Brumbaugh would be able to rejoin the squad within a week.

JOE PACKO DUE HERE TODAY

Joe Packo, the Toledo heavyweight, who meets Ike McFowler, of Johnstown, in the 10-round main bout at McKeesport tomorrow night, is scheduled to arrive in Pittsburgh late today. McFowler will come from the Flood City tomorrow morning.

Young Marco Polo and Young Guido will box the six-round semi-final, and Kenny Davis will meet Tommy Kane in the opener. The second bout will be arranged today.

Johnny Urban, brother of Jack Burke, boxes Harry Fay, of Louisville, in one of the preliminaries to the Jack Delaney-Nando Tassi bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight.

The Jolly Bowl at New Castle will be enclosed and roofed over for the winter season and will be used for basketball as well as boxing. Willie Davies and Ernie Peters are booked for the windup of one of the last outdoor shows next Monday night.

Jack Zivic is back home from the coast and will begin training within the next week for his winter campaign.

Joey LeGrey, of Johnstown, boxes Paul Gulotta in a 10-round windup in Brooklyn tomorrow night. Sid Terris and Phil McGraw meet in a postponed battle at the Coney Island Stadium Friday night.

Terry Lingo and Freddie Fitzgerald heve been matched to box the main bout of the next show at Washington Pa., on Monday night, October 1.

N. B. A. TOURNAMENT NARROWS DOWN TO SIX

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19.—(AP.)—Contenders for the pennant in the National Baseball Federation tournament were narrowed down to six out of 18 teams last night after four days' play under the rule of "two defeats and out."

Cincinnati, defending the title for the third successive time, romped on the hitherto unbeaten New Haven, Conn., team today to the tune of 11 to 3. Cincinnati tonight was the only team undefeated.

Birmingham, Ala., put a damper on the hopes of the Charleston, S. C., team when they handed the Carolinians their second defeat, 12 to 5.

Flint, Mich., took the two and out count when Detroit defeated them, 5 to 3. So did Waterbury, Conn., who was downed 5 to 2 by Omaha.

Pittsburgh, the other team still in the running, was idle, having drawn a fourth round bye.

YANKEES GAIN, CARDS WIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The New York Yankees gained a full game in the American League pennant race Tuesday by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 14 to 11, while the Cleveland Indians were winning from the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 2. The Yankees now have a two-game lead over the Athletics.

In the National League pennant race, the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their two-game lead over the New York by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 2. The New York Giants won from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Boston Braves, 8 to 3. Chicago is now three and one-half games behind the Cardinals. The contenders:

Al Simmons—(.352)—Hit double and single and scored one run in four times at bat.

Jim Bottomley—(.328)—Went hitless in four times at bat.

Babe Ruth—(.322)—Went hitless in six times at bat.

HORNSBY TOPS P. WANER

Heinie Manush swept into the lead of the individual batters in the American League yesterday by a margin of one point over Goose Goslin of Washington. The St. Louis slugger was pounding various Yankee first-string pitchers for three out of six at Sportsman's Park, while the Goose was held to one lone hit at Detroit.

The leadership in the National League also changed hands yesterday when Rogers Hornsby regained the crest by pounding Blake of Chicago for two out of three, while Paul Waner got only one out of five against Fitzsimmons at the Polo Grounds. Hornsby advanced two points to .383, while the Pittsburgh star fell one notch to .382. The Standing:

Cheer Up! Trusts Cannot Kill Ablest Small Rivals

By B. C. FORBES

DON'T believe for a moment that it has become impossible for an individual to launch a successful business of his own because of domination by trusts. Almost every industry in America has examples of notable achievement by individually-owned concerns.

And unquestionably it will be so in the future, although doubtless it will take more and more ability to fight singlehandedly.

GENERAL ELECTRIC and Westinghouse are two gigantic organizations, energetic, enterprising, influential, powerful. Yet more than one smaller concern has been established in their field, with very profitable results. I know one man who formerly was employed by one of these companies, but who hung out his own shingle and in a few years has joined the millionaire class.

THE cry is being raised that in a few years half a dozen or half a score chains of stores will be able to dictate prices to American consumers. Nothing of the kind is likely. The fact is that practically every chain of colossal size was originated by one man and on a puny scale. Indeed, it is by the name of some individual that nearly every important chain is still known.

IN the automobile field, although the drift has been and still is towards larger and still larger companies, we have seen conspicuous successes achieved by individuals who began on a moderate scale. Only a few years ago Walter P. Chrysler was an employe—about the highest paid one in America. At this moment the motor world is following with intense interest the activities of the youngest of all notable companies, Graham-Paige, behind which is the driving power of three young men, the Graham brothers.

THE newer industries afford scope for the exercise of individual talents. Think of how many men have made fortunes in radio. And although the Radio Corporation of America is now sometimes called the "radio trust," it has not driven competitors from the field by any means. One of the richest men in America got behind another radio company and is confident that it can be made a big money-maker.

Amalgamation has been strongly in vogue in the movie world, yet individual after individual has come to the front in it during the last 10 years and earned both fame and wealth.

We are witnessing a fight for supremacy in the realm of aircraft. Here no trust has been welded together. The field is wide open.

NO industry could have had a more formidable competitor than Standard Oil. Glance over a list of our leading oil companies and note how many other names, including the names of individuals, are prominently to the fore. Oil properties have spouted millionaires galore, and all indications are that they will continue to do so.

Who can figure how many alert, foresighted individuals have made their mark and also millions in the building and real estate fields? Visit cities, towns and communities in any and every part of the United States, and oftener than not you will be told of the wonderful things some man has accomplished in developing new building sections or in erecting monumental structures. Often this has been done without the possession of any considerable amount of capital at the start.

Not a few individual fortunes have been made lately in public utilities. The drift admittedly is towards integration and amalgamation. But all the big achievements have not been effected by colossal corporations.

Again, was it not many individuals rather than a few rich corporations who first saw the possibilities in motor bus transportation?

It still is true that the majority of highly successful department and other retail stores are owned, not by gigantic trusts, but by individuals or families or closed corporations.

TRUSTS, no matter how big, cannot prevent the birth and growth of brains outside their ranks. The world used to be overrun by reptiles and animals of weird size, infinitely larger than any now existing. They were too big to adapt themselves to changing conditions. We are going to have bigger and bigger industrial monsters than history has yet known. But they are little likely, within your lifetime or mine, to become so all-mighty, all-efficient, all-impregnable as to kill off the profitable exercise of individual ingenuity, enterprise and genius.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The raw sugar market was unsettled today by the action of the futures market, and as to sales were reported. Prices were more or less nominal, although sugars in nearby positions were available at concessions of 5.96 for spots, duty paid.

The raw sugar futures market was weak and unsettled. After opening declines of 1 to 3 points, active positions sold 4 to 5 points below the previous close and into new low ground for the season, selling appeared to ensue chiefly from houses with producing connections, although there was also a good deal of tired long liquidation, promoted by the failure of demand to broaden in the spot market and to more reassuring advices from Porto Rico, where the damage by the recent hurricane is not believed to be of very large proportions. Covering checked the decline and slight rallies followed, with the market at mid-day about 3 to 4 points net lower.

The refined sugar market was quiet and unchanged at 5.40c for fine granulated.

STOCK MARKET DEVELOPS CASE OF "NERVES"

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Waves of buying and selling alternately swept through the stock market today, with price fluctuations running as high as 5 and 6 points.

The nervous activity of the market apparently reflected renewed apprehension over the money situation heightened by the rise in call rates from the renewal of 7 per cent first to 7½ and then to 8 percent. Banks had called upwards of $30,000,000 in loans by noon and in early afternoon prices generally began working toward lower levels.

Some consideration appeared to have been given commission house advices respecting lightening of speculative commitments, but the selling did not deter extensive pool operations. These were most effective in a wide assortment of stocks selling between $20 and $50 per share, and many of these, previously neglected, rose 2 to 6 points to new high prices for the year. Among them were Kelsey Hayes Wheel, which moved up 6¼ points to 43¾, and Walworth Company, up 4 points to 23¾, also a new peak.

Gains of 2 to 2 points were recorded by St. Joseph Lead, American Zinc, U. S. Smelting, American Metal, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, American Woolen and Trico Products. Temporary outbursts of buying carried Freeport Texas up 5 points. General American Tank Car responded to announcement that stockholders will be given the opportunity tomorrow to subscribe to additional stock on favorable terms by soaring more than 7 points to 90½, a new 1928 peak. Official announcement of an important development in the company's affairs is to accompany the offering.

Flashes of strength also were shown by Radio, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Curtiss Aero and A. M. Byers during the forenoon.

Among the issues hit rather hard by the selling waves was Case Threshing Machine, which lost 9 points. Cerro de Pasco, U. S. Steel, General Motors and American Smelting were among pivotal industrials that yielded a point or more of their recent advances.

BLAW KNOX SCORES WIDE OVERNIGHT ADVANCE

STEEL COMPANY'S SHARES OPEN FIVE POINTS HIGHER

An overnight gain of five points in Blaw Knox Steel, following yesterday's sharp rise in the shares, was the principal incident on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

Scarcity of Blaw Knox around the levels prevailing early in the week was clearly deflected today when bidders for the stock were forced to raise their figures progressively from 111 to 116 before any of the issue came out for sale. The establishment of the gain brought a little selling for profit subsequently but this supply was readily absorbed on a moderate decline with the generally strong undertone being maintained in the dealings.

The Street is still without explanation of the sudden rise in the Blaw Knox shares although there are vague rumors in Fourth avenue of a split-up of the shares. Other rumors are that an extra dividend will be declared by directors and that the present $3 annual rate will be advanced to $4, possibly $5.

The firm tone evident in the general list for the past two weeks was noticeable in other quarters. Pittsburgh Plate Glass was handled in the early market at 290, with a fairly evenly balanced market around that level. Fuels showed no changes from recently prevailing levels and the miscellaneous manufacturing shares were steady, although the volume of business in the heavy industrials was rather light.

American Window Glass Machine common fluctuated erratically on a few sales, opening at 30 and moving up to 32 only to drop back to 28 during the afternoon trading. The stock closed yesterday at 36. A demonstration against the short interest in Machine common ran the stock up about 20 points in the past week or so, the move starting from around 22 last week and reaching a high of 41 last Monday.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Business conditions at the local wholesale produce district were rather slow today.

The demand for fruit and vegetables was dull and the quotations were about unchanged.

Poultry was in liberal supply, with the market about steady, demand fair and quotations unchanged.

The cheese market was steady. Butter and eggs were firm. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were limited. A total of 280 cars being on track arrivals included 5 cars of apples, 2 cabbage, 19 casta-bojures, 2 celery, 81 grapes, 1 lemons, 4 lettuce, 9 onions, 4 oranges, 2 pumpkins, 3 pears, 1 peppers, 21 potatoes, 2 prunes, 1 peas, 1 cauliflower and 2 cucumbers.

HAY AND GRAIN.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Stockyards Rank Sixth in the Country in Volume of Business

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

"Suppose These 3 Men Worked for You?"

Would you discharge them or keep them? That's the campaign question.

THE question involved in this election is not one of bitter personalities, or political trickery.

It is not a question of wets and drys, of prohibition or nullification.

The campaign issue is clearly defined by W. R. Hearst in a recent article in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

"My final reason for believing that a false anti-prohibition issue will not be successful is because there are so many genuine and obvious issues before the public. I think the citizens of our country realize clearly that the real issue, the ever-dominant issue, is the question of their personal wealth and welfare, their material and spiritual benefit.

"Are the people prosperous and happy, or are they not? Has the Republican party exercised its stewardship faithfully and successfully in regard to the great problems which existed after the war, and which still exist in a most serious and even dangerous degree? Is the Republican party better equipped than the Democratic party to handle the important matters of national finances and foreign relations, so vital to the welfare of the nation and the individual citizen?

"The Democratic party got the nation into debt. Is the Republican party properly and promptly getting us out of debt?

"The Democratic party got the nation into foreign complications by violating the patriotic injunctions of Washington. Is the Republican party, with due dignity and definiteness, getting us out of foreign complications and keeping us out?

"Any number of tomtoms can be beaten on false issues until our ears are deafened with the noise of the campaign, but the actual and crucial questions before the country are national finances, international relations and public prosperity.

"If the Republican party has failed in these important matters, so intimately affecting the national and individual welfare it should be put out of office and another party installed. If it has not failed, why should the American people experiment with another party, especially with the party which got the country into all its troubles? The Tammany Democrats who are so fond of referring to Mr. Smith as another Lincoln should remember that Lincoln said, 'Never swap horses while crossing a stream.'

"WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST."

There, in plain English, is the issue of this campaign.

The picture on this page illustrates the issue.

If you had three such men as Hoover, Mellon and Coolidge working for you, whether they were labelled DEMOCRAT or REPUBLICAN, would you discharge them or would you KEEP THEM?

Three Good Workers—Coolidge, Mellon, Hoover

There is no doubt as to what you would do in your own private business. You'd KEEP them.

Mr. Mellon, financial genius, has just completed the payment of two of the four Liberty Loans, amounting to more than eight thousand million dollars.

Continued prosperity, with reasonable economy, under such management as Mr. Mellon has given the Treasury Department, would, in a few years, pay off the remaining two Liberty Loans, amounting to EIGHT BILLIONS OF DOLLARS MORE.

Do you want to DISCONTINUE this kind of service?

Do you intend, in voting, to express disapproval of Mr. Coolidge, who has worked faithfully, enforcing wise economy?

Do you intend to vote against the policies and record of a man that had only to lift his hand to be nominated again, yet refused the nomination out of respect for the third term tradition, although, in his case, THERE WAS NO THIRD TERM INVOLVED.

What good reason has any citizen for voting against the record made by Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon?

Mr. Hoover stands ready to step into Mr. Coolidge's place, to carry on the government as it has been carried on, adding to its other assets his own special knowledge of national requirements, his magnificent record of service in the war, and of efficiency in peace.

Would you vote to take Mr. Mellon out of the Treasury and put in the Wiskinski, of Tammany Hall, the gentleman that does the Tammany Hall collecting, or a man of that type?

You know that on the Democratic side, unfortunately for the candidates, this is A TAMMANY HALL CAMPAIGN.

Tammany nominated the candidates, Tammany wrote the platform and then REWROTE it, after the convention had adopted it, along lines acceptable to the old order of Tammany saloonkeepers.

The leopard cannot change his spots, and THE TIGER CANNOT CHANGE HIS STRIPES, much as he might like to do so for the purposes of this campaign to make of the White House Tammany national headquarters.

The Democratic party in this campaign is THE TAMMANY TIGER PARTY.

That cannot be disguised.

Tammany rules its men, big and little. After long years of Tammany service they cannot shake off the Tammany tradition, or the Tammany yoke.

There is no prohibition question involved, no other question except the simple issue, as expressed by Mr. Hearst in the quotation you have read, and as shown in this picture.

Do you want to continue efficiency and prosperity?

Do you want to continue HIGH WAGES that have enabled this country to build and use, as Mr. Hoover points out, 14,000,000 AUTOMOBILES IN THE LAST SEVEN YEARS?

Or do you want to experiment with the Tammany Tiger in the government of the United States?

Do you want to put in charge of the national government, of the White House, of Supreme Court appointments, and OF THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES the Tammany crowd, successors of Boss Tweed, Fernando Wood, Richard Croker and Charles Murphy?

DO YOU WANT PROSPERITY, OR DO YOU WANT TAMMANY?

Are you willing to have Tammany Hall run the national government?

Will you vote to continue the service of men such as those whose pictures are printed above, or will you change and experiment with "the Tammany crowd," successors of Boss Tweed and the gang?

THAT'S the issue.

Mayor May Not Be Safe In Campaign of Arrests

In one of the farces of years ago was a comedy mayor, who, threatened with arrest, squelched the situation by announcing "You can't arrest the Mayor." That was on the stage. Perhaps in real life it might be possible to arrest a mayor. Anyway, if we were Mayor Kline, we'd be on our guard. When they take to arresting common policemen and constables and then go on up to police inspectors and police magistrates, Hoey and Verona, for instance, it is time for the higher-ups to be a little cautious if they wish to escape the hoose-gow.

When political factions become playful and take to making raids, each in the territory of its rival, issuing therefrom with prizes of greater or lesser degree of value as hostages, naturally each will try to overreach the other in the relative importance of the scalps they capture. They have gone up the grade pretty high already. So high that one visions Safety Director Clark reaching his office by devious routes, perhaps even resorting to a mattress-hair beard to fool pursuers bent on taking him in reprisal in this novel political farce. When that happens Mayor Kline can reflect "it won't be long now" and prepare to get a bondsman, since it is not at all likely that his political foes ever heard of the dictum—"You can't arrest the Mayor."

Always Peaceful

Leave US Alone, We Leave YOU Alone.

Briand, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, says, "I have never doubted for a single minute that the American people would show their love of peace."

The American nation has existed, independent, for 152 years. And it has NEVER made war except when war was forced upon it.

In 150 years Mr. Briand's great nation has made war on Italy, Austria, Germany, Russia, England, Egypt, etc.

The French, however, have not attacked any nation since they got rid of their kings and emperors and began governing themselves.

The Best Tribute

From Grateful Hearts.

Farmers of Rheims, having good crops, deposited a sheaf of wheat ornamented with white grapes on the Unknown Soldier's tomb under the Arch of Triumph. Their tribute bore this inscription, "From the peasants of Rheims, who owe their harvest to your sacrifice."

Many tributes have decorated that tomb. That from the peasants of Rheims is the best of all and would give that dead soldier greatest pleasure if he could know of it.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

"Pure" Science and Useful Science

FOR a long time now the cultivators of "pure" science have kept possession of the horn, and with voices big and voices little, all trained to the same meter, have broadcast, ad nauseum, and whoop that the wonderful material progress of the world in our time is only a by-product of "research," pursued with an eye single to the discovery of "pure, unadulterated truth," uncontaminated by any relations with such vulgar things as utility or money.

But now at last a voice is heard—and that from a "doctor"—raised in behalf of the science of the engineer. Dr. H. F. Moore, of the University of Illinois, after speaking, in Science, of "the salutary mental attitude of recognizing our dependence on pure science," continues:

"Let us not forget that while pure science furnishes us with generalizations of observed phenomena into concise, summarized statements which we call laws, and also gives us root ideas for many of the practical appliances and processes of applied science, yet it is equally true that the study of practical problems has been the source of not a few of the root ideas of pure science."

I have italicized the challenge in this sentence, because it contains a great truth that has been too often ignored, and because it ought to be called to the attention of all readers interested in the real facts about modern life.

For illustrations Dr. Moore confines himself to the field of the mechanics of materials, the science that deals with the strength and elasticity of solids. Going back to the time of Archimedes, he shows how even in those days "the development of scientific thought and especially the development of scientific technique was limited and hindered by a spirit of intellectual aloofness which caused the man of thought to look down on the world of tools and labor."

Galileo did not show this intellectual aloofness. In his investigation of the strength of beams, in connection with ship building and shipyards, "he stands out," says Dr. Moore, "as a great pioneer advocate of experimental study."

The most striking illustration offered is that of the famous Robert Hooke, who guessed a part of Newton's science ahead of Newton—and who contributed to posterity a law of elastic strain—"as the stretch, so the force"—which is cited as a shining example of a contribution made by applied science to the basic law of a pure science.

During a period of 150 years Hooke's theory of elastic strain was worked upon by famous men, including four great mathematicians, Euler, Bernouilli, La Grange and Coulomb, who "may well be classified as 'pure' scientists;" and, "at the end of this period of development, we find an engineer straightening out the work of a century and a half into a logical though rather complicated systematized body of knowledge."

This engineer was another great experimental worker, Louis Navier, famous French engineer, "who put the beam theory on the map." Still another French bridge engineer, Barre de Saint Vincent, notwithstanding his power in mathematical analysis, "was so far from intellectual aloofness to the problems of everyday life that in his great work developing the elaborate theory of elasticity he frankly avowed his purpose of putting that science in a form available to the structural engineer and the machine designer."

It is a matter of mental attitude; but that is a thing of immense importance in life, to be deeply impressed upon youthful minds. All ought to know that from the days of Galileo to the present, at least in this branch of science, "the main ideas have come fully as frequently from the shop, the shipyard and the bridge site as from the study of the scholar or the laboratory of the pure scientist aloof from the practical needs of his day."

Revenge Not So Sweet

YOU may be looking for an opportunity for revenge.

But are you sure that the person who has incurred your ill-will is actually guilty of what you think he has done?

Circumstantial evidence you have, but possibly you are mistaken.

Most of us cause ourselves a great deal of unhappiness because of what our imagination pictures to us.

And the longer we harbor such thoughts the stronger their hold upon us and the more we become convinced that we are correct in these deductions.

Undoubtedly you have had the experience of accusing a person of a certain thing only to find that he or she was guiltless.

Perhaps the thing that is worrying you today and for which you so long for revenge is not founded on facts at all.

But suppose you did "get even" would it be a real gratification?

You would have lowered yourself and your shame could not enjoy the revenge you contemplate for something as yet unproven.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Coasts of Morning

THE air was cool, caressing.
Too sweet for sleep, too sweet.
When up the coasts of morning
I saw the night retreat.
The little leaves were shining
Along the camphor hedge,
The river's golden rippies
Danced up each rocky ledge.

At sight of waxing glory,
Like long-caged bird released,
My spirit's wings were lifted
To greet the glowing East.
What once was captive soaring
As free as wind and tide,
When up the coasts of morning
I saw the sunrise glide.

Great Passages from the Bible

"Devise Not Evil"

(Proverbs 3; 25-35)

BE NOT afraid of sudden fear, neither of the desolation of the wicked, when it cometh.

For the Lord shall be thy confidence, and shall keep thy foot from being taken.

Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hands to do it.

Say not unto thy neighbor, Go, and come again, and to morrow I will give; when thou hast it by thee.

Devise not evil against thy neighbour, seeing he dwelleth securely by thee.

Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm.

Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways.

For the froward is abomination to the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the just.

Surely he scorneth the scorners: but he giveth graces unto the lowly.

The wise shall inherit glory: but shame shall be the promotion of fools.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

ONE of the things they've got bureaus to do now is to fit everybody into the right job. All kinds of folks come to these bureaus telling all kinds of tales about how good they can make sails for prairie schooners or how hard they can work at lumberjacking where there ain't too many trees to bother them.

Well, lately there was a poor guy come to a bureau in New York, and he says, "I ain't ever been able to hold a job of any kind. My eyes are on the bum. I see double all the time."

"You're on," says the expert. "You take a job right now at double the ordinary pay, reading meters for the gas company."

Very Awkward

THE well-known actress rushed into her press agent's office, holding the evening paper in her outstretched arms.

"I am ruined, Wobbler!" she cried. "Ruined! Look at this!"

"What is it? Another scandalous story about you?" asked the press agent.

"Worse than that," was the reply. "I signed a testimonial stating that I always smoked Mild-whiff cigarets because they never bothered my throat; and I signed another testimonial that I always use lozengers to protect my throat after smoking; and here they are both on the same page!"—London Answers.

Outclassed

TWO dentists who happened to be traveling north on the same train discovered they were of the same profession.

Immediately their conversation turned to "shop."

"You know, old man," said the first, "I have mastered the art of being gentle. I've got gentleness down to such a fine point that my patients fall asleep while I'm pulling their teeth."

"Oh, that's nothing!" retorted the other. "My patients always arrange for their photos to be taken when I operate, because that's the only time they have such a pleasant expression."

O. O. McINTYRE

San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—San Francisco's Chinatown is a perfect pastel of the Orient imprisoned in a Western frame—vivid with myriad hues of exotic colorings. New York's Chinatown is vastly interesting, but in comparison seems incomplete. Here is the finished product.

Strips of San Francisco's Chinese quarter, they say, could be easily transplanted to Canton and Hongkong and be unnoticed. This afternoon I saw Chinese children marching home from school and they resembled for all the world those dainty roly-poly bisque Chinese dolls even to their bamboo and paper parasols.

The overtone of Chinese has been distinct since gold-rush days when they washed, cooked and were playfully hung by the pioneers. They give the city much of its cosmopolitan flair. The spidery streets are aflame with nuances of color—gold-leafed pagodas with "devil spike" points, lantern-hung porticos and brilliant screens.

Grant avenue, sweeping upward, is the main artery. Shops and bazaars are flung along it with dazzling windows revealing porcelains, bronzes, ivories and silks. Pajamas, house robes, kimonos and such are also dazzling and beguiling with their fantastic splashes of every shade.

Jewelers' shops are magnets of attraction. Here the humped-over artisans with delicate sensitive fingers work on benches in windows in plain view of passersby, performing miracles of craftsmanship in gold filigree and in jade. Huge bifocal lenses indicate their dimming sight and eventual blindness.

There are no longer subterranean passages honeycombed with exotic opium-scented parlors nor do white girls huckster their souls into slavery for poppy dreams. Guides are plentiful, but one may prowl in perfect safety. Many are San Francisco-born and their English is without the slightest accent.

Chinatown telephone girls are Chinese—flapper types with bobbed hair and a pleasant "All-lightee." On the sidewalks are peripatetic cobblers who drive pegs while you wait, apothecaries with roots and herbs, lily and bird vendors and fish stalls. And a toothless old fellow I followed around offering a huge sum—well, $2—to show me the neatest vanishing coin trick I ever saw. He only cackled.

While the Chinese quarter is most fascinating to visiting firemen, the Mexican, Spanish, Latin and Japanese quarters have their appeal. In the Greek district Greek meets Greek and instead of opening a shoe shine parlor sit at marble-topped tables, sip coffee and suck at narghile pipes. And there are also honeyed sweets for those craving the cuisine of Attica whoever he was.

* * *

Chinatown has an Occidental briskness. I had scarcely registered until a Mr. Charlie Loo telephoned his welcome and invited me around to see "but not necessarily to buy." It is a Chinese custom not to press a sale but so generous and gracious is their hospitality you always buy. I fell for some sort of a puzzle gadget that kept me as wide-eyed as a goldfish until what they laughingly call dawn. And then I flung it out an open window. It was just a Chinese trick and if someone will loan me the use of their hall I'll state publicly no one can work it.

One sees withered old sunken-eyed men with parchment-like faces and long grotesque finger nails as well as the snappy young sports with turned down hats, waspish coats, capsuled mustaches and properly looped four-in-hand ties. They shoot their cuffs, slick back their hair and indulge popular slang of the day. The Chinese girls are just as modern. I called on a man today who has a slim, young Chinese secretary. He said the intricacies of her own chirography made stenography a cinch, and she mastered the use of its pots and hooks in two weeks.

Chinatown, like all San Francisco, expresses a festival spirit. At night the cafes fill with sight-seeing merry-makers and to listen to an all-Chinese jazz band was something to rush me out to send another batch of post cards.

* * *

Back in New York we often refer to San Francisco as Frisco. But out here it inspires something that has all the quaint earmarks of a downright dirty look.
